ENTICED BOYS TO STEAL, IS CHARGE

Isaac Walls of Near Carthage is Accused of Contributing to Delinquency of Two Minors

UNDER SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Grand Larceny Dec. 22, 1921 Following Theft of Overcoats

Isaac Walls, age 21 years, living west of Carthage, was arrested at noon today by Sheriff Hunt and Deputy Ed Spradling and placed in jail here on a charge of encouraging the delinquency of two minor boys. The charge more specifically sets out that the defendant enticed the boys, whose ages are 14 and 16, to assist him in conducting raids on hen houses and encouraging them to steal. The charge was filed in juvenile court, and the names of the two boys were withheld.

Walls was arrested at Carthage and pleaded ignorance of any offense to the officers, although he was not arraigned today before Judge Sparks.

Walls, according to the criminal court docket, was arrested in December 1921, on a grand larceny charge, together with Ora Patterson, and on December 22, 1921, the record shows that each of them pleaded guilty, and was fined $1 and costs and a sentence of from one to 14 years in the reformatory was suspended during their good behavior.

This case involved the wholesale theft of overcoats from a church social in Arlington, and the youths attempted to show the court that they were taken as a joke, and intended to be returned, but the court did not "see the joke".

Walls also is a member of Company C, Rushville's National Guard unit, and is the person who was accidentally shot last August while the guard company was serving at the Stanton, Ind., coal fields. His injury at that time was regarded as being serious, and he was several weeks in recovering.

As an outcome of the present case, the suspended sentence at the reformatory may be revoked. The county probation officers made the investigation, after complaints from Carthage had been made, and the charge against him was filed.

LOCAL CHAPTER IS REPRESENTED

W. A. Alexander and Austin Frazee Attend State Meeting Of Sons Of American Revolution

OLD FLAG IS DISPLAYED

W. A. Alexander and Austin Frazee as representatives of the local organization of the Sons of the American Revolution, attended the state meeting of the organization Monday night at the University Club in Indianapolis. A large attendance was present for the meeting, which represented the entire state.

One of the chief features of the evening's entertainment was the display of a flag which was given by Anthony Wayne, general of the U. S. forces, who overcame the Indians in the northern part of the state, to the Indian chief Chimaquichese, George Washington, at that time president of the United States, requested General Wayne to present the Indians with a flag when they were conquered.

CHANGE EFFECTIVE MARCH 1

A slight change in service, to become effective March 1 was announced by Amos Baxter, superintendent of the I. & C. traction line today. The Connersville dispatch, he said will stop at Mauzy and Glenwood when flagged or on request of passengers on the cars. These towns are regular limited stops.

WANTS TO SEE WAR VETERANS

Representative Of Veterans Bureau Of Indianapolis Here For Week

Miss Margaret Growad, a representative of the Veterans Bureau of Indianapolis, is in Rushville this week, and is located at the recorder's office in the court house, where she is anxious of meeting all World War Veterans who are disabled, and are drawing compensation.

Any of the soldiers who desire to take the matter of compensation up with the state representative, should also attend, but it is especially urged that all soldiers who now are on the list, should see her at their earliest opportunity. She will remain in Rushville all week for that purpose.

COURT REFUSES CLEMENCY PLEA

Fred Clevenger, 21, and Denver Pea 17, Sentenced to Reformatory, Plead for Leniency

GUILTY OF GRAND LARCENY

Sentence of One to Fourteen Years in Each Case Passed—House Breaking Charge Changed

The two men accused in the robbery of the residence of Mrs. Cora W. Dillon, were arraigned this morning in circuit court before Judge Sparks and each pleaded guilty, receiving a fine of $50 and costs and a sentence of from 1 to 14 years in the state reformatory. Fred Clevenger, gave his age as 21, and his companion, Denver Pea, gave his age as 17.

The charge against them was house breaking, and in order to reduce their sentence, it was changed to grand larceny. The house breaking or burglarly charge carried a sentence of from 10 to 20 years.

The two pleaded for leniency, but Judge Sparks told them that under such circumstances the sentence could not be withheld. Clevenger was found guilty January 15 in this court to a petit larceny charge, and had just finished serving a 30 day jail sentence, when he was arrested as a suspect in the robbery of the dwelling house.

Sheriff Hunt will leave in a day or so with the two prisoners, as each will serve their sentences at the reformatory in Jeffersonville.

The Farmers and First National Bank of Newcastle has filed suit in the circuit court against Rayburn B. Henley of this county, the complaint being on a note, with the demand placed at $99.

Carl O'Neil has filed objections and exceptions to the final report in the settlement of the estate of his father, Michael O'Neil and objects to the report of Edward O'Neil, administrator. The settlement of property has been in court for several months, and for this reason the plaintiff alleges that the report should not be filed at this time.

Judge Sparks today was sitting in a court case of William H. Grocox against Edward C. Bell, et al., the matter involving a note, in which the plaintiff is seeking $450 judgment. The case was taking most of the day for trial, after an attempt at compromise failed this morning.

TO STAND TRIAL SATURDAY

Elmer Perkins Of Near New Salem Is Accused By Carthage Girl

Elmer Perkins of near New Salem will stand trial Saturday afternoon at one o'clock in Justice Stech's court on a paternity charge, which has been preferred by Ruth Hanshaw of near Carthage.

The case of the Mohawk Rubber company against Howell brothers, a complaint on an account, was postponed from Monday until March 7.

The court Monday was occupied with the case of Nettie Jones against Gertrude Fultz and Harry Jones, a complaint to replevin household goods, and Justice Stech took the matter under advisement, and will render his decision in a few days.

GASOLINE TAX BILL DEFEATED

Measure Lacks Constitutional Majority Of Fifty-One When Voted On In The House

M'CRAV'S PLANS COLLAPSE

General Property Tax May Be Necessary For Highway Department—Memorial Day Bill Passes

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—A proposed tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline failed today when the state house of representatives failed to approve it.

The vote on a bill providing for the tax was 47 to 46, lacking the constitutional majority of fifty-one, which is required for passage.

Failure of the measure to pass, completes the collapse of Governor McCray's plan to finance the state highway department and leaves that department with greatly depleted funds.

Friends of the governor said it would be necessary to increase the general property tax to care for road construction and improvement in Indiana if the highway department continues to function.

However, the bill may be reconsidered on the rules of the house which permits any measure not actually defeated by a majority vote to be reconsidered.

Wet forces of the state showed their hand for the first time in the session with the introduction of a bill by Representative Schwartz of Indianapolis to repeal the state prohibition law. There was admittedly little chance of its passage because it will be caught in the crowded legislative mills during the few remaining days. Even if it should pass, Indiana would remain dry by state and federal constitutional amendment, but it would be possible to obtain liquor in medicine prescriptions.

As a sequel to withdrawal of the bill requiring anyone to have a permit from the department of conservation before taking sand from Lake Michigan in Indiana, Senator Steele introduced a bill which would prohibit anyone from taking sand from the lake.

Governor McCray today commanded the fate of the annual Memorial Day 500-mile automobile sweepstakes on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

CONFERENCE REVIEW OCCUPIES ROTARIANS

"High Spots" of Recent Indiana Meeting at Michigan City Presented at Today's Luncheon

NINE FROM HERE ATTENDED

The program at the regular meeting of the Rotary club today noon was devoted to a review of the "high spots" of the annual Indiana conference of Rotary clubs at Michigan City, last week, which was attended by nine members of the Rushville club.

Warder Wytt, president, reviewed the district governor's address; Lee Endres, the address by George Tapy of Crawfordsville on "The Boy and His Gang"; H. S. Havens, the address by Rabbi Ed Israel of Evansville on "Membership in Rotary"; Louis Mauzy, the address by Merle Sidener of Indianapolis on "Business Methods"; Roy Harrold, the address by Ex-Governor A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota on "Citizenship and Constitutional Government"; John A. Titsworth, the address by M. S. Rice of Detroit on "Junk"; and L. L. Allen gave his impressions of a visit to the Indiana state prison. Will O. Feudner described the entertainment at the conference.

Music at today's luncheon was given by Miss Mary Louise Wyatt, violinist, and Miss Brenda Kinsinger, pianist. H. M. Newkirk of Muncie was the only guest present.

LAST WARNING IS GIVEN TO PATRONS

Must Have Mail Boxes At Homes By Thursday Or Mail Delivery Service Will Be Stopped

AMPLE NOTICE GIVEN THEM

Postal Authorities Point To Practice Of Leaving Letters To Be Mailed As Violation Of Rules

The postoffice department has issued the final call to patrons in Rushville, regarding the placing of mail boxes on their front porches at some convenient place, and a failure to comply with the order will mean a discontinuance of mail service after Thursday of this week.

The postal authorities here stated today that many people had misread the rule. The order does not set out the fact that the mail box must meet any special regulation as to size or shape demanded by the government; in fact, the order is clear, and reads that any kind of a receptacle is all that is necessary.

The carriers in Rushville prefer an open end box, without lids or slots, so that the mail can quickly be placed in it. An ordinary cigar box, sawed off at one end makes an ideal container, and is much preferable to some of the kinds sold in stores, according to the carriers.

Many people who had such boxes misread the order, and have taken them down, according to the postal clerks, and have gone to the expense of buying boxes, which are cumbersome. A slot in the front door, is also acceptable.

Postmaster A. L. Riggs stated today that a practice was being made in Rushville, which would have to be stopped by patrons. This practice is placing letters to be mailed, in the boxes for the postman to pick up.

The city is well covered with government mail boxes on street corners for this class of mail, and there is no rule which requires letter carriers to pick up outgoing mail from the house-boxes.

The carriers are frequently delayed in picking up letters, and many people even go so far as to drop pennies in their boxes to pay for postage, which also is not permitted, and which causes delay to the carriers.

The prime purpose in compelling people to place mail boxes at a convenient place on the porch is to assist in giving quicker service by the Continued on page three

KIDNAPER WILL BE CHARGED WITH MURDER

Crowd Of Several Thousand Gathers Around Philadelphia Station When Confession Becomes Known

SMALL GIRL'S BODY FOUND

(By United Press)
Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—The body of little six-year-old Lillian Gilmore, victim of a fiendish kidnaper, was found frozen in the Neshaminy creek, near Croydon, Pa., at midnight.

Wylie Morgan, self-confessed abductor, will be formally charged with murder today, authorities said.

A crowd of several thousand persons gathered around the police station when word of the confession was spread and shouted threats of violence against the prisoner.

The station in the heart of the Kensington mill section, was under extra guard and armed men filled the doorways, standing off the mob.

The body of the little girl was found after Morgan confessed to the crime. He guided the police to the creek where he had thrown the body of the girl and cried "there she is, I killed her", the police said.

Five men, holding lanterns high so that they might peer into the darkness, recovered the body from the icy water. The little girl's body showed signs of a terrible beating. A superficial examination revealed her jaw broken in five places, her arms, hands and legs were cut. Police believe Morgan had beat Lillian in the face until she died.

BIG TAXPAYERS ARE PAYING

Many Pay To Avoid Having Money Assessed For Taxation March 1

Some activity is noticeable at the county treasurer's office where taxpayers are beginning to pay their spring installment of taxes. Although the spring installment is now due, the majority of taxpayers wait until near the close of the season, the first Monday in May being the last day on which taxes can be paid without the taxpayer being penalized.

Many who pay big sums in taxes meet their spring installment before the first of March, so as not to have the money assessed for taxation. This accounts for the activity at the treasurer's office for the past few days according to the county treasurer.

President Harding Selects New in Spite of Opposition—Work Going to Interior Department

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Harding today gave Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, recently defeated for reelection, a place in the cabinet.

The president sent to the senate the senator's nomination to be postmaster general. New succeeds Postmaster General Work of Colorado, who was selected as secretary of the interior to succeed Albert Fall, whose resignation becomes effective March 4.

The president is understood to have made his selection about ten days ago. He has been under strong pressure not to appoint New. In putting New in the cabinet, Harding is standing by an old friend.

Work being a western man, has been interested in matters coming under the jurisdiction of the Interior department.

New is sixty-four years old. He was born in Indianapolis and spent most of his life in Indiana. He was elected to the senate in 1916 but was defeated for renomination by Senator Beveridge in the primary last year.

Work is sixty-two. He was born in Indiana county, Pennsylvania. For many years he was a prominent physician. President Harding first named him as assistant postmaster general and elevated him to the head of the department when Will Hays resigned to become czar of the movies.

FUNERAL IS NOT ARRANGED

Services For C. J. Bickhart Await Word From Relatives At A Distance

The funeral services for C. J. Bickhart, Rushville miller who was killed in machinery at his mill some time Monday, and whose mangled body was found in the afternoon, were not decided upon today, as word was waited from relatives residing at a distance.

Mr. Bickhart's untimely death proved a severe shock on his family. His body was found in a pit at his mill, and it is the belief that his clothing caught in a shaft, and caused his body to be dragged into the wheels. His death was attributed to a crushed skull, near the base of the brain, although several ribs were broken and imbedded in flesh near his heart.

RED RUST CREEPS ON RUHR DISTRICT

Best Evidence of Success or Failure of Occupation of German Area by French and Belgians

50,000 PERSONS ARE IDLE

Reveals Success of Invaders' Aims but Reflects Failure to Procure Reparations in Coal

By WEBB MILLER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright, 1923 by United Press)
Paris, Feb. 27.—Rust—mile upon mile—a rusted net work of railways, roundhouses filled with rusted locomotives, cars with rusting wheels on silent sidings—that is the most striking, the most tell-tale evidence of the success or failure of the occupation of the Ruhr. It is far more informative than any official interview or statistics.

On an automobile ride through a dozen or more Ruhr towns, I observed the extension of the red rust which marks the creeping paralysis overcoming the nervous system of the great industrial organism. One by one the tall smokestacks hedging the horizon are ceasing to smoke as the paralysis reaches them.

Already fifty thousand persons are idle in the Ruhr valley and their number will increase from now on in a growing ratio. Hundreds of thousands of others are engaged in non-productive work. Raw material and stocks are fast diminishing, meaning that the factories must soon shut down.

From one viewpoint, this paralysis shows success of Franco-Belgian aims. Owing to the resistance of Germany's industrialists, the French and Belgians feel they must paralyze the occupied area to force capitulation.

But the glare of the red rust reflects the failure of the invaders to procure reparations in coal—one of the avowed objects of the occupation. Officials now admit the impossibility of obtaining an appreciable amount of coal unless and until the West Phalian miners decide to work under orders of the French and Belgians.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—Controversy between France and Germany over whether the former are using colored troops in the Ruhr was continued. Continued on Page Three

ROADS WORST THEY HAVE BEEN THIS YEAR

Highway Superintendent Says It Is Practically Impossible To Drag When They Are Soft

BOTTOM FALLS OUT OF THEM

The bottom has dropped out of the country roads, according to Hal Green, county highway superintendent, who said today that they were worse than they have been at any time this winter.

The continual freezing and thawing has caused some of the best surfaced roads in the county to break through and the county highway force is unable to cope with the situation, according to Mr. Green.

He says that bad stretches of roads that developed last winter were repaired during the summer, as long as the funds held out, but the road superintendent pointed out that the county had only $63,000 for this work and 386 miles of road to maintain.

Many complaints are being received but while the roads are so soft the highway superintendent does not put the big trucks on the roads because the damage they do. While the ground was frozen last week, a bad stretch a half mile long on the Meggie pike, southeast of Rushville, was graveled.

It was a waste of time and money to put drags on the roads this morning, Mr. Green contended, because the first vehicle passing over them after dragging would cut the road up again.

Income Tax Facts

NO. 22.

With certain limitations interest and taxes paid during the taxable year may be deducted from gross income. Such items include interest upon a personal loan and taxes on a dwelling, as well as interest on business debts and taxes upon business property. The Federal income tax, however may not be deducted, nor may there be included any special assessments for local benefits tending to improve the value of the property, such as paving or drainage assessments since they are, in fact, the cost of a permanent improvement.

Obligations of the United States issued prior to September 2, 1917, are wholly exempt from the Federal income tax. Hence interest, paid or accrued on indebtedness incurred, or continued to purchase or carry such obligations, is not an allowable deduction from gross income.

Personal indebtedness includes not only money borrowed to defray personal expenses—clothing, food, etc.—but also money borrowed for the purchase of real estate. If a person owes money secured by lien or mortgage on his home the amount of interest paid on such indebtedness may be deducted. Moreover, interest paid by the taxpayer on a mortgage upon real estate of which he is the legal or equitable owner, even though the taxpayer is not directly liable upon the bond or note secured by such mortgage, may be deducted as interest on his indebtedness.

HUDSON ESSEX COACH

There are two great facts in the automobile world today. First, enclosed cars are here to stay and open models will be used mostly as semi-sport cars.

Second, the dominant character of enclosed cars has changed. They are utilities now, not luxuries.

A bulletin by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce reports that 60 per cent of motor buyers prefer the enclosed model; they want it for comfort, protection, everyday usefulness.

In Massachusetts, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, California and Pennsylvania, the preference is well over 60 per cent. In the southern states the demand is less marked, but still important and growing.

It seems to me that this is nothing less than a marvelous development, an overnight event of epochal importance in the industry. Who would have thought 12 months ago that it would be more difficult to sell open cars than enclosed ones? Yet that is the exact truth today.

Who would have said a year ago that the greatest problem today would be for the body manufacturers to turn out a volume production of enclosed cars? And that the companies who were so foresighted as to make their arrangements for a volume of enclosed cars would be selling their capacity output?

Demand For Enclosed Cars

Now this demand being disclosed and admitted, isn't it reasonable that the automobile trade, reflecting this desire, should tell the manufacturers of the industry to turn out enclosed bodies in volume under a standardized system—as a few companies did last year? We must have quantity production in enclosed bodies.

If it weren't for its notable spirit of response to public demand, the American automobile business would still be a small time trade rather than one of the world's great-giant industries. It reasoned: If standardized manufacture could produce such wonderful results in the quality and price of chassis, why not in bodies also?

The answer this last year has been that such methods will win. And so we have come to that wonderful utility value, an enclosed car of all-weather comfort, medium price, high operating ability and economical maintenance.

Now there is no doubt but that other types of enclosed cars will survive. Nor is there any reason to think that the open car will lack its own admirers.

But isn't the fact apparent that the motorist who can have but one make of car, and who wishes to use that car in all seasons for both business and recreation, will seek the medium-priced enclosed car which best meets the general average of his needs?

Art Combined With Utility

This car, it should be understood, cannot be skimped in any important particular. It must be reliable both in chassis and body. It must give the purchaser assurance that the body will last as long as the chassis. The body may have straight instead of curved lines, and the equipment in line with the general purpose of the car should be chosen for utility. But it must be priced right and render a definite, comfortable service.

In the Hudson and Essex Coaches—which will enable us to break all records by producing 75 per cent of our 1923 output in enclosed cars—a public want is being supplied—a car which has been designed for the great average of the public's requirements. It is provided with a motor car which has excellent performance, long life, low upkeep, and a body which makes it useful as an all-year car. And because the public responds in large numbers—it is obtaining a more favorable price than ever before for such all-around usefulness.

ned today by the Berlin government when authoritative dispatches from Cologne stated that black troops occupied Konigswinter.

The garrison at Bonn also includes colored troops, the Germans maintained.

The French have officially denied the presence of colored troops with the new army of occupation. At the same time, it was stated today that the class of 1922, many of whom are in the Ruhr, may be recalled. These youngsters may be replaced with others even younger.

The German government protested to Paris regarding a series of alleged cruelties, including proven cases of three deaths and about a score of persons being wounded.

One particular instance that was stressed by Berlin was the driving of guests from a theatre at Recklinghausen with whips. Another was when passengers were whipped from a train at Wanne.

which admission is charged awaited his signatures. If he signs it the measure becomes a law immediately. If he writes "vet" across the bottom, it cannot become a law because there are not sufficient opponents of the race in the house of representatives to pass the bill over a veto. The veto by which it was approved by the house was 53 to 38 and 67 votes are necessary to override an executive veto.

As a result of this position of power in one of the most interesting fights in the legislature the governor was subjected to the strongest pressure from both sides of the question.

Speedway officials, with a heavy advance seat sale, said the race will be run this year despite the act, and their friends were seeking to make the matter easier by inducing the governor to reject the bill.

On the other hand, officials of the American Legion and other interests that guided the "blue Memorial Day" bill through the assembly were seeking to assure its final approval.

Members of the Indianapolis delegation in the house of representatives were reported to have warned the governor his signature on the bill would be a signal for them to overthrow the small republican majority in the house and defeat his program.

This one argument carries more weight than any other. Included in the governor's program is the foundation of the entire financial structure for the next two fiscal years. It includes the vital points of McCray's intention to accomplish great work in highway improvement and school reforms during his administration.

Satisfactory completion of the reformatory now under construction is also at stake. With the eleven republican representatives from Indianapolis jumping over the traces, the $2,000,000 appropriation asked by the governor to finish the reformatory job, would be butchered and other appropriations provided at McCray's recommendation would be jeopardized.

Late yesterday the house passed the bill for increasing automobile license fees so amended that it bore no resemblance to the original administration measure. It actually would deprive the highway commission of some of the money it now receives instead of increasing the amount and administration leaders would prefer its defeat unless the senate changes it.

AMUSEMENTS

Coming To Mystic Tomorrow

When Shirley Mason's newest picture, "Pawn Ticket 210" comes to the Mystic Theatre on Wednesday the audience will be given a rare treat. William Fox the producer of this picture, at great expense purchased the famous play by David Belasco, peer of all stage producers and Clay M. Green, one time famous playwright. It was because of the fact that Miss Mason is fast becoming one of the screen's foremost favorites and to provide the tiny star with vehicles of the first class, that the producer made the purchase.

According to advance reports Miss Mason does some of the best work of her meteoric career in the screen adaptation of this sensational stage success. The story deals with a young woman who has been placed in the care of a pawn broker by her mother.

Years later, when the young woman had blossomed into womanhood and had learned much of life, the mother returns. At the conclusion the woman finds her husband and all live happily.

Scott Dunlap, who has directed many screen successes is responsible for the direction of Miss Mason's late triumph.

"Singed Wings" Again Today

Seven cameras were trained on Bebe Daniels, Conrad Nagel and Adolphe Menjou during the filming of an exciting fight scene between the latter two in "Singed Wings." Penrhyn Stanlaws' latest production for Paramount features Miss Daniels and Conrad Nagel, and which comes to the Princess theatre again today. Every possible angle was made use of by the cameramen to get results.

The reason for the unusual number of photographers on the set is explained by the scene itself. Mr. Menjou has managed to persuade Bonita, a dance hall girl, played by Miss Daniels, into his big country home. Her sweetheart, Peter Gordon, portrayed by Mr. Nagel, has followed and attempts to slip into the house without being seen. But he is observed by the villain, who seizes a vase and smashes it over Peter's head as he quietly enters a window. A fight follows, the light crashes out and the fight develops into a struggle of life and death. It ends when Bonita recognizes Peter and, throwing her strength into the battle, manages to stop it.

The danger of breaking Mr. Nagel's head was extreme. There were possibilities of severe cuts. It was for this reason that so many cameras were trained on the scene. Only six pictures were taken. They were good and parts of each serve to make up a most exciting episode in "Singed Wings."

THE BURDEN BEARER:—
Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and

Psa. 55: 22.

The Tariff Law

A review of the operations of the tariff law passed by the congress, which is drawing to the end of its term this week, shows an increase of nearly twenty percent in exports, which has not only confounded the enemies of protection, but has likewise astounded its friends, who felt that some increase would be recorded, but did not dream that such an increase would be recorded in so short a time.

It was the stock argument of those opposed to the bill that it would seriously curtail our export trade, due principally to the fact, as they viewed it, that imports would be walled out and foreign nations would consequently stop buying so largely from America. Here is how the first four months of foreign selling puts that statement to blush:

Month	1921-2—Exports—1922-3
Oct.	$343,000,000 $371,000,000
Nov.	294,000,000 380,000,000
Dec.	296,000,000 344,000,000
Jan.	279,000,000 339,000,000

Total $1,212,000,000 $1,434,000,000

This is a total increase in the brief space of one-third year of $222,000,000 in value, and since prices were not so high in the 1922-3 period, it is evident that the increase in quantity of exports was even more marked. At the present rate of increase there seems little reason now to doubt that our exports will reach $4,500,000,000 for the first 12 months of the new law, and with imports estimated at between three and a quarter billions our favorable balance of trade will reach somewhere between a billion and a quarter and a billion and a half of dollars. This seems certain notwithstanding the fact that the purchasing power of Europe will be seriously curtailed by the situation in Germany and Austria and Russia, and economies instituted in other purchasing countries, added to which is the fact that the policy of tariff protection has become well-nigh universal. Great Britain herself, long the leader in free trade, having returned to the protective policy.

It is reported that the anti-protectionists are heart-sick over the situation. They had planned to begin an aggressive campaign against the tariff as soon as Congress had adjourned, to be kept up throughout the campaign of 1924. They had quite frankly admitted that the tariff would once more be their trump card in the presidential fight, and now they are discovering it to be the deuce of an off suit. They were positive that our export trade with Europe would dwindle so rapidly that a reaction against the party in power would take place.

The Motor Bus Bill

There seems to be no way to account for the action of the Indiana legislature in disposing of proposed legislation. The majority of the members of the house, which is composed largely of farmers, profess their interest in good roads, yet they kill a bill which seeks to put motor trucks and busses acting as common carriers under control of the state public service commission the same as other public utilities.

As the situation now stands, the motor busses and trucks tear up our roads, yet the owners of these trucks who make hauling their business, pay no more for the upkeep of roads than any owner of an automobile.

One contention of those who opposed the bill was that it was fostered by the traction interests. Suppose it was? All they were asking for was a square deal. The railroads and traction lines pay 10.51 percent of the taxes in the state. They not only maintain their own road bed, but they help keep up the highways by paying road taxes in proportion to the amount of their assessment.

One opponent of the bill said that if the bill were passed, soon the public service commission would not permit motor trucks and busses to run on roads that were parallel with traction lines and railroads. This is nothing more than loose talk and should have been considered as such because the public service commission has not abused its power; in fact, it can not afford to because public sentiment would not permit any injustice being worked.

The motor trucks and busses can haul for less because the dear public is paying the bills, whereas the traction lines and railroads keep up their own lines and at the same time pay taxes on their property. If there was ever a bill that was in the interest of the taxpayers, this was one, and those who voted against it

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Republican
Thursday, February 27, 1908.

The many friends of Joseph Holman were shocked this morning when the sad news went over the county that the aged pioneer of Rush county had died suddenly at the home of his son, Lot Holman in Noble township.

Miss Elizabeth Bishop has gone to Connersville to spend a few days with her sister before leaving for Indianapolis, where she will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McCord. Miss Bishop is one of Rushville's most estimable young ladies and leaves many friends in this city.

A North Carolina grower of ginseng root has harvested from a plot of sixty-seven by fifty-seven, $980 worth of root, nearly all of which was sent to China. This record does not exceed our own Sel Webb, who will mine a big crop next year that will be like picking dollar bills off the bushes.

Rushville music lovers have a rare treat in store for them, for the De Pauw University glee club is coming here for a concert on the night of Wednesday, March 25.

The following market quotations were published on this date: Hogs, per hundred pounds, $4 to $4.10; chickens, per pound, 7 cents; hens, on foot, per pound, 8 cents; eggs, per dozen, 17 cents; butter, country, per pound, 19 cents; wheat, 90 cents; potatoes per bushel, 95 cents; apples, per bushel, $1.25.

Mrs. A. T. Mahin of North Harrison street went to Knightstown yesterday to see her brother, Lon Fouché, who is seriously ill there. Lon formerly lived here and has many friends in Rushville. He has been conducting a drug store in Knightstown for several years.

Miss Ruby Hayes of Lewisville is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas, in North Perkins street.

Edwin Farrer, grand instructor of the Odd Fellows of Indiana, and J. T. Arbuckle of this city will assist in dedicating the new Grand Lodge building in East Market street at Indianapolis.

Dr. F. M. Sparks is ill at his home in North Main street, with a severe attack of the grip.

Edward, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Meredith of North Morgan street, is suffering with jaundice. Howard and Lovel, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hauzy Bebout, have the measles.

Judge Will M. Sparks and wife, of North Main street, were the guests at a banquet given by the lawyers of Shelby county at the hotel Ray in Shelbyville last night.

John Stewart of North Sexton street who underwent an operation recently, is reported not so well.

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia). 35c and 65c, jars and tubes.

Hittin' 'Em & Missin' 'Em

No word yet about the Moscow deal, but Hittin' 'Em is hoping that Mr. Ihsaa will reconsider the matter and make room for the Orange township team.

ONE DRAWING WAS CHANGED

The drawing at Shelbyville was changed Sunday, when a similar mistake was discovered. Geneva, a town in Shelby county was overlooked, and the entry blank was found tucked away someplace. It was mailed from the postoffice at Flatrock, and the state officials thought that it contained the Flatrock list. The Moscow list was mailed from the Milroy postoffice, and perhaps Mr. Ihsaa made a similar mistake. We'd suggest that it would be a good idea if he would go through his pockets, and maybe he could find the missing list.

BOOST FOR RUSH COUNTY

At any rate, if Rushville can't turn the trick, let's boost for a Rush county team. It is bound to be a Rush county team in the final game, so we all should get behind them and root our heads off for 'em. They will need it.

Lot of dopsters are giving Manilla and Carthage the place in the final list with Connersville. Either one of these teams could battle Connersville to a good game.

Two good officials were drawn for the sectional. Fred Bills of Washington township and Gilbert Best of Franklin. The fans should give them the glad hand when they come out on the floor.

CONNERSVILLE TO HELP

Connersville called us last night, and wanted to know about the Moscow affair. We told 'em the facts, and they said they would exert their influence with Mr. Ihsaa, and see if they couldn't have Moscow placed in the tourney. Thank, Connersville.

LET'S WIN THE TOURNNEY, WHAT DO YOU SAY GANG?

Connersville feels pretty confident of going through the tourney in easy fashion. Somebody ought to stop 'em and get that notion out of their head. Let's win the tourney, what do you say?

HERE'S WORD FROM A FAN AT MILROY

Hittin' 'em and Missin' 'em—What do you think about this? Moscow high school will not be in the sectional at Rushville. Isn't that a shame? We fans wanted to see them more on account of their dashing playing. Gosnell is undoubtedly the most brilliant and spectacular player in Rush county. Now we are robbed of some of the best playing in the tourney. Mr. Hittin' 'em, why couldn't you arrange to have Moscow play somebody some time during Friday or Saturday between the sectional games. Here is my all-county team.

- F. Baker, Manilla.
- F. Talbert, Webb.
- F. Hilligoss, Rushville.
- C. Gosnell, Moscow.
- C. Walker, Rushville.
- G. Cowan, Milroy.
- G. Tillison, Moscow.
- G. McCorkle, Milroy.

Yours truly,
Milroy H. S. Fan.

RUSHVILLE IS MENTIONED

Hardwood in the Star is receiving selections of Big Sixteen teams which will win the sectionals and survive the regionals, coming to Indianapolis on March 16 and 17. In the various lists submitted, appears Rushville in several of them, and in one case Milroy is mentioned. In no case is Connersville given mention. If we were Rushville we'd live up to the predictions, and show 'em we could once more go to the state tourney.

LET'S SEND FOR DR. COUE AGAIN GANG HE WON THE NEW-CASTLE GAME FOR US, AND HE COULD DO WONDERS IN THE TOURNNEY.

More advice: Don't weaken after you once get ahead. If you are behind, fight until you get ahead.

$250,000 Worth of 3rd Basemen

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Feb. 27.—New third basemen, worth nearly a quarter of a million dollars, will be trotted out next year in the major leagues. Four brand new rookie stars will make their debut on the big time and four other clubs may give utility men a chance to replace faltering veterans.

Desperately in need of a third baseman, the Chicago White Sox went into the market and bought the most highly touted—Willie Kamm—from the San Francisco Pacific Coast League club for $100,000.

Connie Mack came next and he nearly knocked out the entire circuit when he paid $75,000 for Sammy Hale, another coast product.

Cleveland kicked in $35,000 for Lutzke and the Cubs let go of $30,000 for Grantham.

The Indians may find no room for Lutzke, however, as Riggs Stephenson, one of the utility infielders, was said by the players to have been the most improved ball player of the barnstormers who toured the Orient. Washington and the St. Louis Cards could use new third basemen and the Browns will have to find one if they are to get any place next year.

Finding them is a tough proposition, however. If four good ones come up in a year, it may be four years before one more good one is found.

From more recent developments the predicament of Bennie Leonard, the lightweight champion, isn't as precarious as it was several weeks ago. Benny had been measured by everyone for a pine box, on the theory that Charley White would get him, if Lew Tendler didn't.

Rocky Kansas, the sturdy little Buffalo fighter, then stepped in and gave White the worst beating of his career, just when Charley's name was ready to go to the printers for Leonard posters.

Tendler smashed up his glass hands again in his recent bout with Pal Moran and he is out of it for a long while. He may be able to give the champion another hard fight, but no one with weak hands is going to store Bennie away.

FIGHT RESULTS

Chicago—Jock Malone, St. Paul, scored a technical knockout in the sixth round of a scheduled ten round bout over Johnny Klesich, Cleveland.

Terre Haute—Bud Perril, won a technical knockout over Paul Mathen, in the second. California Joe Gans knocked out Battling Ball in the third.

Milwaukee—Jimmy Delany out-pointed Ted Jameson in ten rounds.

Indianapolis—Jimmy Dalton knocked out Ray Rivers, four rounds.

Brookton, Mass.—Billy DeFoe, St. Paul featherweight, won a 10 round decision from Harry Carlson, Brookton.

Detroit—Ever Hammer, Chicago lightweight, was ordered out of the ring in the sixth round of his fight with Sid Barbarian because he refused to fight.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN—that's why it relieves constipation!

Half-way measures mean nothing to the man, woman or child whose very existence is threatened by the habitual clogging of the elimination channels. Foods with only part bran can never clean and sweep the intestines in the nature-way as does Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

And, Kellogg's Bran is as delicious in flavor as it is positive in its action. If it is eaten regularly—two table-spoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, with each meal—it will permanently relieve the most aggravated case.

Your health will be greatly improved within a brief period if you will eat this delicious Kellogg cereal. Know what Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, will do for you and for your loved ones. There is no time to be lost in getting the relief that Kellogg's Bran assures.

Kellogg's Bran is delightful as a cereal, sprinkled over any hot or cold cereal, or served in countless appetizing ways in baking and cooking. It makes the best sort of pancakes, muffins, raisin bread, macaroons, etc., you ever ate. And, each mouthful contributes to health! Kellogg recipes are printed on each package. Kellogg's Bran works for you all the time! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran for constipation.

A pimply complexion or an offensive breath can both be overcome by the regular use of Kellogg's Bran, which is sold by grocers everywhere.

CHICAGO'S LABOR WAR CLAIMS 26TH VICTIM

"Red" Kinsella, Notorious Gangster Shot To Death In Pitched Battle At Butcher's Union Meeting

MEMBERS OF UNION WOUNDED

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Chicago's labor war claimed its twenty-sixth victim today when "Red" Kinsella, notorious gangster, was shot to death in a pitched battle at a meeting of the Butcher's Union.

Paul Rodin member of the union, was wounded in the shoulder.

The gun battle broke out during a heated discussion over an attempt of the Hebrew Butchers to secede from the Amalgamated Meat Cutters, and Butchers of America. More than fifty shots were fired. Four or five men took part in the affray.

Following the shooting members of the union fled. When police arrived the hall was empty.

Kinsella was found dead a few blocks away. Rodin was taken to the hospital by persons attracted by the shots.

Police attempted to round up members of the union who were present in an effort to learn the motive for the shooting.

Kinsella was known as a member of the "valley gang." He had a long police record.

Rodin told the police he was climbing the stairs to the meeting when the shooting started. He said he saw several of the men back out of the door with smoking guns in their hands.

SANITATION WILL PREVENT WORMS

Quarters Where Pigs Are to be Far-

ROUND WORM MOST COMMON

Pigs Allowed Full Range of Old
Hog Lots are Certain to Become
Infested With Parasites

By DR. L. C. KIGIN

(Veterinary Department, Purdue
University)

To economically raise hogs, worms
must be prevented from gaining entrance into the pig's body.

The most common intestinal worm
of hogs found in Indiana, is the round worm (ascaris suis). This worm varies in length from seven to twelve inches, and they obtain their foods supply from the partly digested
contents of the small intestines which they inhabit. The female worm produces a great number of eggs
which pass out with the excrement.
If the feed of the hogs becomes contaminated with this material, the eggs are taken into the stomach of the hogs where the young worms are hatched.

The young worms find their way
to the lungs through the blood stream where the worms spend a part of their life; then they pass up
the windpipe and are swallowed soon reaching the small intestines where they complete their development.

If they are in great numbers in the small intestines the vitality of the pig is sapped and treatment is of little value in such cases. The harm

TO PLACE AT HEAD OF HERD

Mrs. Irene Reeves Buys River Side
Prince in Wayne County

The following from the Richmond,
Ind., Item tells of the purchase of Riverside Prince near Cambridge
City to place at the head of her herd
of Spotted Poland China hogs:

It is interesting to know that Mrs.
Irene Reeves of Rush county and one of the best Spotted Poland China judges in the state after looking over some of the best herds in the country came to the herd of Lindley
Baker just north of Cambridge City
and bought River Side Prince to be placed at the head of her herd which is considered to be one of the best
through this section of the corn belt.
River Side Prince was shown by Mr.
Baker's daughter in the pig club
show at the Wayne county fair last fall, winning third in this show and second in the open class.

FINDS SOY BEANS ARE A PROFITABLE CROP

HARVESTING SOY BEAN CROP ON RILEY COULTER FARM IN RICHLAND TOWNSHIP

A few acres of soy beans have no
terrors for Riley Coulter of Richland Township. In 1921 he grew his first crop of beans, putting out 28 acres. He liked them so well that he increased his acreage last year to 49 acres planted alone, besides planting beans in all his 110 acres of corn. This spring he plans to increase his acreage still more and will sow 54 acres to thresh.

Mr. Coulter says that he does not intend to make any change in the method of handling the crop, and he has found his method of last year satisfactory. His crop was sown with a big grain drill with part of the holes closed so as to drill in rows about 28 to 30 inches apart.
They were drilled around and around the field, rather than across the field. Mr. Coulter believes in cultivation, and went over his crop
three times with an ordinary corn cultivator, going around the field the same way they were drilled.

The accompanying illustration shows how Mr. Coulter handled the harvesting of the crop. As shown in the cut, the beans were cut and bound with an ordinary grain binder, which was followed by a disc followed in turn by the wheat drill. In this way one does not need to wait till the beans are removed before sowing the wheat crop, as the bundles are dropped on the ground that the drill had passed over. They were later shocked in small shocks to be threshed later. A modified grain separator was used to thresh the beans
and did satisfactory work.

Possibly the discing could have been eliminated because the ground
had been cultivated three times in the tending of the bean crop, and then too beans have a similar effect on the soil as tomatoes, that of loosening up the soil. It might have been a good idea to leave the disc off and follow the drill with a culti-

WHAT RUSH COUNTY FARMERS THINK OF THE SOY BEAN

"A coming crop. Good hog feed.
If a farmer misses on clover, they are the thing to sow. I like beans better every day. Anything will eat them"—Thos. Logan.

"I believe they will become one of our standard crops. Have had good success in hogging them with corn and for hay."—E. E. Chappell.

"Soy beans are a fine crop. I intend to plant in rows and cultivate when growing the crop for seed."—
H. L. Beall.

is getting them properly threshed. I

URGE PURCHASING OF LABELED SEED

Farmers Can Secure 100 Percent Enforcement of Law by Refusing to Buy Unlabeled Seed

MUST BE DONE PROPERLY

It is Privilege of Every Farmer to Report Violations of Law to The Seed Commissioner

If you buy seed this spring that is not properly labeled in compliance with the Indiana Seed Law, you are not getting the benefit of the law's protection. The law requires not only that the seed must be labeled, but the label must be properly filled in.

Although the power of enforcing
the law is vested in the seed commissioner, the farmers of Indiana
can secure 100 percent enforcement
by refusing to purchase seed unless the seed law label is attached and by insisting that all the data required
on the label be properly given.

It has come to the attention of the seed commissioner that a number of dealers seem to think that the mere presence of the label means compliance with the law. Other dealers fill in the front of the label correctly but fail to state the number of weed seeds per pound as required on the back of the label. In many cases a knowledge of the number of seeds per pound is more important than the percent of purity.
For instance, clover seed may be
98 percent pure, but if the 2 percent impurity is made up entirely of dod-der seeds, such seed may contain

POTATO SCAB IS COMMON DISEASE

Corrosive Sublimate Solution Gives Best Results in Controlling Scab and Other Diseases

SEED SHOULD BE TREATED

Thorough Treatment When Potatoes Are Dormant Along With Crop Rotation Will Control Scab

Scab is quite common in Rush county and causes considerable loss. While many farmers have partly controlled this disease with formaldehyde, the corrosive sublimate treatment more effectively handles it as well as black scurf and black leg and so should be used in this county. Growers should not forget to treat even Certified seed stocks as these are liable to have a small amount of scab and black scurf on the outside.

To treat potatoes quickly and effectively secure three old vinegar or whiskey barrels and bore an inch hole in the sides of two of them near the bottom so that the solution can be withdrawn easily from them after each treatment. Mount two of these barrels on a substantial platform 16 inches from the ground. The third barrel is the one in which to make the poison solution. Fill it almost full of water, near the other two. Then dissolve 7 ounces of powdered corrosive sublimate in a quart glass can. The water in the glass can should be boiling hot as the poison dissolves much more readily in hot water. After the corrosive sublimate is dissolved, pour it into the 50 gallons of water in the barrel. Now fill the other two barrels level full of potatoes and pour in the poison solution until the potatoes in both barrels are covered. Allow them to soak for an hour and a half, then withdraw the poison solution thru the holes at the bottom and pour back into the original barrel. Fill up the barrel again until it is as full as before and add another ounce and a half of poison. Meanwhile the potatoes are taken out of the barrels and spread out to dry and the barrels are again filled and this process of treatment continued. After four treatments are made the fifth treatment is given without adding any new poison to the old solution.

Thorough treatment when potatoes are dormant, along with crop rotation will largely control scab and black scurf. If the tubers have sprouted cut down the length of treatment to a half hour. After the potatoes are all treated drain the remainder of the solution into the ground as it is very poisonous and should never be left where animals might drink it.

Using the same proportions of the solution smaller amounts may be treated in an ordinary candy bucket or other wooden vessel. Do not use galvanized wash tubs or other metal containers, as the poison corrodes these.

Livestock Paper Lauds Hoosier Ton Litter Idea

The accompanying editorial from The Breeders' Gazette, one of the leading livestock papers in the world pays tribute to the work of the Hoosier Ton Litter Club which is sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University and the Indiana Livestock Breeders Association. The editorial, which is of interest to every farmer follows:

One of the most instructive and promising pieces of co-operative work ever done in connection with hog raising in this country recently was completed in Indiana. Our leader article in this issue summarizes typical methods followed and the results obtained by the Hoosier Ton Litter Club last year. Brilliant in conception remarkably successful in execution, and, in concrete, finished form worthy of careful study by every farmer interested in efficient hog production, this Indiana idea is "something new under the sun."

The work done by members of the club not only emphasized the value of good breeding, modern methods of feeding, and protective measures embodying the principles of sanitation, but as luck or merit would have it, conferred particularly high distinction upon Poland Chinas; for a number of the leading litters belonged to this great American-made breed. The alert and enterprising Poland-China Breed Promotion Committee of the three leading associations which record Poland-China pedigrees is quite properly exploiting the ton litter club's work.

To their credit it should be said that all the best litters of other breeds finished well. It is noteworthy that one of the best litters was out of a sow and by a boar of medium large type, and that the dams and sires of all the ton litters were remarkably similar in type and size.

We regard the ton litter movement, now auspiciously launched, as presaging developments of the first importance in raising the standard and increasing the efficiency of breeding herds, and thereby greatly strengthening the foundations of the porkmaking industry.

FORDSON

You Will Want Your Fordson Tractor Early

Everything points to the greatest shortage of Ford products this year that has ever existed.

Never before has the demand been so great.

You will want a Fordson Tractor early—here is one product you cannot wait for—when the weather opens up you will need it.

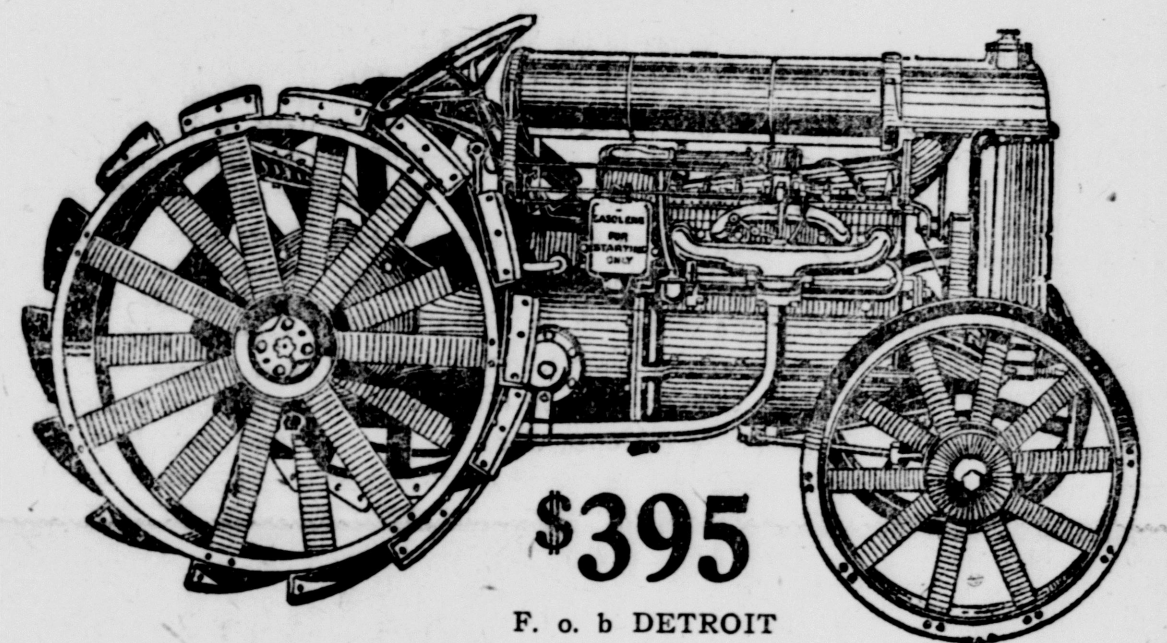

You will want it for plowing, seeding, cultivating—and all your other work. Already it has proved the greatest help to profitable farming that has ever been offered to you. And at $395 f. o. b. Detroit, the price is so low that you lose money every day you are without a Fordson. To get delivery you must order early.

There are no reserve stocks among our dealers — our production capacity, great as it is, will not enable us to build up a reserve.

It must be a case of "first come, first served" and the only way in which you can protect yourself is to list your order with a Ford Dealer immediately.

By taking advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery, you will be assured of having your Fordson when you need it.

may sow for green manure; if so, will sow a different kind, with wheat drill all holes running. I threshed 200 bushels last season and were a splendid substitute for 'auxage. Beans fed with oats to cows makes the best milk producer I have ever fed."—J. W. Henley.

"They are a crop that most every farmer could use to advantage. We intend changing from Mid West to Ito San for one reason only, being an earlier bean they can be harvested and out of the way for sowing wheat in good time."—W. C. Austen.

"I think they are a very profitable crop. I haveno change in view except harvesting."—John W. Gahimer

"I think they are alright as a hog feed when fed a la Purdue. They surely are a cheap source of nitrogen when properly inoculated. I believe they are a coming crop. I am planning to drill in rows and cultivate for grain. Investigating the row picking machine for harvesting instead of threshing with wheat separator, think it will be less expense."—C. A. Bowen.

"Expect to drill in rows and cultivate for seed. Will drill some for hay. Would like to use beans to take the place of wheat if a satisfactory market for same is established."—H. C. Archey.

"I believe beans are fine feed; they even make the hens lay. I use 1 part ground soy beans, 2 corn and 2 oats and 5 parts regular poultry mash mixed. I threshed about 500 bu. of beans. They should be threshed in about 24 hours after they are cut, not later, if cut at the right time."—Edw. Gahimer.

"Due to the fact that we haven't any clover we will need our beans to feed next summer. We may sell a very few, but only to our neighbors. What do we think of beans? Well they are some feed. I am sorry that we did find it out before we did."—Orla Tremain.

JASPER FARMERS STRONG FOR SOYS

A soybean acreage four times as large as that of last year is indicated for Jasper County, according to County Agent, H. S. Agster. The county farm bureau has purchased 300 bushels of seed through a local dealer, to sell to its members, thus assuring several hundred more acres, either with corn or for seed.

BROILER PRICES HIGHEST IN SPRING

Season of Year is Most Important Factor, Due Chiefly to the Supply and Demand

PURDUE POULTRY SURVEY

About Middle of May, Receipts are Small Enough to Keep Prices
From Fluctuating

The demand for broilers on the Indiana markets does not open until April, when the prices are highest. The prices vary considerably with the season of the year, the different markets, and the size of the birds. The season of the year is the most important factor, due chiefly to the supply and demand. The early broilers first come on market during April, and the receipts increase steadily until about July.

The prices usually decrease as the supply increases, a survey recently made by H. H. Kaufman of the Purdue University Poultry department shows. Until about the middle of May the market receipts are small enough to keep the prices from fluctuating. After the break in price in May, the prices decrease steadily until about the middle or latter part of July. After July there is little variation until the next season's supply comes on the market. Broilers offered for sale during the fall and winter are usually cold storage birds.

The Purdue Poultry Department has found the average monthly Indianapolis market prices from 1915 to 1922 inclusive to be as follows: April-41c, May-38c, June-32c, July-27c, and August-24c. This variation of prices is similar to the fluctuations on the New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago or other large markets. The eastern markets are about 15 percent higher than the Indianapolis quotations.

Early in the season the demand is for the smaller broilers, weighing about a pound and a quarter. As the season advances, there is a demand for birds weighing up to two pounds. Leghorns and other small sized birds should not be allowed to weigh over one and three fourths pounds for

FARMERS COOPERATE IN TESTING CATTLE

Action of Luce Township, Warrick County, Farmers Encouraging
Sign in Agricultural Situation

NO ANIMALS ARE EXCLUDED

Rockport, Ind., Feb. 27—Real cooperation by farmers of Luce township in the testing of cattle for tuberculosis is one of the most encouraging signs in the agricultural situation, according to County Agent H. D. Jackson.

Preliminary testing was done in this township last spring and when the county agent with the inspector arrived at Richland, 35 farmers had assembled for a short meeting to plan the campaign.

"The testing has been concluded over about three-fourths of the township and so far not a single cow has been excluded," Jackson said. "Only a small number of reactors were found but over the area there rests the certainty of disease free cattle that makes it well worth the effort."

best quality broilers. After they become heavier, they develop large combs and wattles, and become staggish.

To obtain the highest price for broilers, it is necessary to get them on the early market to avoid the overstocked conditions. Thus, early hatching is necessary, since it takes from ten to fourteen weeks to grow a broiler. Usually the eastern markets pay the higher price but the local Indiana markets can give better service. By selling locally or within short shipping distances the transportation losses due to express charges, shrinkage, dead birds and other shipping difficulties are greatly reduced.

CHOOSING A TRACTOR

In choosing a tractor, the principal points to consider are size, type, reliability, comfort and safety of operator, and first cost, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1300, "Choosing a Tractor for a Corn-Belt Farm," just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The authors, L. A. Reynoldson and H. R. Tolley, have prepared this bulletin with the idea of aiding farmers in the proper choice of a machine that will be suitable to their particular conditions and needs.

Four principal factors should be given consideration in deciding on the size or horsepower of a tractor, says the bulletin: kind of soil, topography, surface conditions, and the use to be made of the machine. The three principal types of tractors are the ordinary wheeled type, the crawler, and the general purpose tractor. The ordinary wheeled tractor is found on more farms than any other type. The crawler tractor is particularly adapted to use on sandy soils or soils which tend to pack easily. The general purpose tractor has been found satisfactory for use in all the ordinary operations for which the other types are used, as well as for plowing corn. Owing to the high cost of gasoline, many machines are now equipped with carburetors that will burn kerosene, thus reducing fuel costs about one-half.

In choosing a tractor, the bulletin advises, the farmer can hardly go wrong if he selects one of the standard makes upon which he can obtain prompt service, and for which the parts that require the most attention and care and frequently need to be replaced are easily accessible. Difference in prices of tractors are frequently found to be due to accessories and extra equipment on some machines. As daily operation of a tractor is tiring, prospective purchasers are urged not to overlook features of construction that add to the comfort of the operator and contribute to safety. First cost of a machine should not be the only consideration, says the bulletin, as other important features may be overlooked and a poor choice result. The bulletin gives a formula for estimating the proper size of pulley to use

Jefferson County Jersey Leads in Cow Test Group

In Jefferson County, at the conclusion of the year's work in the Cow Testing Association, Joseph Harrell's pure bred Jersey led all other cows in the Association. She produced 9,024 lbs. of milk, 502.7 pounds of butter fat, which was worth, $187.27. The feed she consumed cost $77.18, making a profit of $110.09, according to a report from County Agent B. H. Doddridge. While Mr. Harrell knew this cow was profitable from her splendid production, he would not have known how much she was worth to him had he not been in the cow testing association to thus keep accurate records on all his cows. The cow testing work reveals the boarder cows in the herd and also just how good the good ones are.

CLUB GIRLS ACTIVE IN VANDERBURG CO.

At the Community House in Scott Township of Vanderburg County the club girls, of that county recently put on five very good demonstrations on sewing, canning, Xmas gifts, removing spots and stains, and making a ribbon hat. This was a contest held during their county fair. The winning team is to be sent to the Club Round-Up at Purdue University next spring by four banks of Evansville. They gave their demonstration to a large number of people who were attending the fair.

These demonstrations were the first ones ever put on by club girls in that county. The girls, even though they were beginners, were composed and entirely unimpaired of the crowd before them.

This work is an outgrowth of their club work which has been carried on under the supervision of Bernadette Keller, Home Demonstration Agent of that county. This is one of the two counties of the state which has a Home Demonstration Agent. She has been able to put on a good club program with the girls of 10 to 18 years of age along with her other work.

The club winners who get the trip to Purdue are: Bertha Engle, Mae Peter, Violet Angel, and Harold Peter, near Evansville; Mary Alice Riggs, Harriet McCutchan, and Clarence Riggs, Inglesfield; canning demonstration team, Lula Burgdorf, Evelyn Lundenburg, Florence Kares, and Margaret Kolb, all of Cypress.

EXTENDS TO AUSTRALIA PURDUE'S REPUTATION

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 20—The work being done by the Agricultural experiment station at Purdue University reaches round the world, according to the number of letters received during the last few months. One came in today to Professor Conner, soils chemist, from George L. Sutton, director of agriculture for the government of Western Australia at Perth asking for information about some work which has been done at Purdue in connection with soil.

"I saw the statement about your work in a New Zealand newspaper and want some more information," Stutton said. The letter was mailed October 31, 1922.

Similar letters have been received the last few weeks from several European countries and a number from South America on all phases of agriculture and engineering.

POULTRY BUSINESS IMPROVES

Franklin, Ind., Feb. 27—Three tons of poultry are shipped from Johnson county every week, it was learned here today. The value of one week's shipment is $1,400, according to the branch station of an Indianapolis poultry firm. The figures revealed by the poultry company indicate the chicken business is growing by great strides in Johnson county. The percent of increase each year amounts to thirty percent.

TO ILLUSTRATE HOW THE PRESS HELPED

Item From Daily Republican Quoted In Report Of Leader Of Barberry Eradication Forces

CITES A. B. NORRIS EXAMPLE

Movement To Reduce Black Stem Losses Of Hoosier Farmers Is Given Support By Newspapers

A news item from the Rushville Daily Republican of Nov. 8, 1922, is quoted in the annual report of K. E. Beeson, state leader of the federal barberry eradication forces, as an illustration of the manner in which the press of Indiana has assisted in the movement to reduce the black stem rust losses of Hoosier farmers. Mr. Beeson's report has been filed with the United States department of agriculture and copies have been sent to the leaders in twelve other states where barberry eradication is now in progress.

The story in the Republican was headed "Barberry Bushes Cause Low Yield at Carthage." It called attention to the connection between the common barberry and black stem rust by describing the manner in which rust on a field of grain owned by A. B. Norris was traced directly to a barberry bush. The article proved a powerful circumstantial case against the common barberry and the facts related will be used by government agents to convince doubting farmers all over the spring wheat area that the barberries really are a source of rust infection.

The Conference for the Prevention of Grain Rust, a national organization of agricultural interests with headquarters at Minneapolis, is listing a number of actual cases of the spread of rust from barberries. These will be broadcasted through the Farm Bureau publications and farm journals this spring in an effort to encourage greater activity on the part of grain growers who suffer an average annual loss of some $50,000,000 as a result of stem rust epidemics in the cereal production region between the Ohio Valley and the Rocky Mountains.

has already been done. To prevent worms, the quarters where the pigs are to be farrowed should be cleaned and disinfected. The floor should be scraped, and then scrubbed with a hot solution of lye to destroy the eggs of worms that might be present and infest the young pigs as soon as they begin to eat. Cleaning and disinfecting will control the infestation of other internal parasites. Lung worms, whip worms and pin worms are frequently found in Indiana herds.

Before the sow is put into shed or stall to farrow she should be given a hand bath. A brush and warm soapy water used freely over her body will eliminate the worm eggs that she may be carrying mixed with the dirt on her body. The sow and pigs should be kept in the stall until the pigs are about a week or ten days old, and then removed by hauling to a place that was not used by hogs the previous year. The pigs should not be allowed to come in contact with lots or fields that were used by hogs last year until the pigs are at least four months old. It is well to remember that after hogs reach 90 to 100 pounds in weight there is little danger of the worms causing much trouble.

The pigs that are allowed full range of old hog lots and pens are almost certain to become infested with internal parasites. The sooner they are treated after it is known they are infested the better will be the results. However badly infested pigs seldom grow or fatten even though they have been treated. More attention should be given to sanitation and proper care and feeding of pigs, and there will not be any need of worm powders and tonics. A well cared for, thrifty bunch of pigs seldom shows any sign of worm infestation, but it is an exception to find an unthrifty bunch of pigs that are not badly infested with worms.

FINDS SOY BEANS ARE PROFITABLE CROP

packer in order to get a more compact seed bed.

Mr. Coulter is not the only Rush County farmer who has found beans

a paying crop, as a number who grew a few acres for the first time last year are increasing their acreage this year. One man is planning to overcome the threshing difficulty by means of a picking machine that threshes the beans from the standing stock.

Most of those who will grow beans for grain this year are sowing them solid with a big drill and will harvest with a binder or self-rake reaper. Most of the beans will cut a week or ten days earlier than last year as it was learned from experience of last year that the time of harvest must be watched closely and not be allowed to be delayed too long on account of the shattering that will result from allowing them to stand too long.

Every farmer in Indiana who purchases seed this spring should appoint himself a deputy seed commissioner to see that the seeds he buys is labeled and that the data required on both sides of the label is properly given.

Furthermore, it is the privilege of every farmer to report violations of the law to the Seed Commissioner, Agricultural Experiment Station, West Lafayette, Indiana. In reporting violations, a sample of the seed, together with the label and full data, regarding the transaction should be forwarded to the Seed Commissioner, who will investigate all cases reported by farmers.

ENTICED BOYS TO STEAL, IS CHARGE

Isaac Walls of Near Carthage is Accused of Contributing to Delinquency of Two Minors

UNDER SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Grand Larceny Dec. 22, 1921 Following Theft of Overcoats

Isaac Walls, age 21 years, living west of Carthage, was arrested at noon today by Sheriff Hunt and Deputy Ed Spradling and placed in jail here on a charge of encouraging the delinquency of two minor boys.

The charge more specifically sets out that the defendant enticed the boys, whose ages are 14 and 16, to assist him in conducting raids on hen houses and encouraging them to steal. The charge was filed in juvenile court, and the names of the two boys were withheld.

Walls was arrested at Carthage and pleaded ignorance of any offense to the officers, although he was not arraigned today before Judge Sparks.

Walls, according to the criminal court docket, was arrested in December 1921, on a grand larceny charge, together with Ora Patterson, and on December 22, 1921, the record shows that each of them pleaded guilty, and was fined $1 and costs and a sentence of from one to 14 years in the reformatory was suspended during their good behavior.

This case involved the wholesale theft of overcoats from a church social in Arlington, and the youths attempted to show the court that they were taken as a joke, and intended to be returned, but the court did not "see the joke".

Walls also is a member of Company C, Rushville's National Guard unit, and is the person who was accidentally shot last August while the guard company was serving at the Stanton, Ind., coal fields. His injury at that time was regarded as being serious, and he was several weeks in recovering.

As an outcome of the present case, the suspended sentence at the reformatory may be revoked. The county probation officers made the investigation, after complaints from Carthage had been made, and the charge against him was filed.

LOCAL CHAPTER IS REPRESENTED

W. A. Alexander and Austin Frazee Attend State Meeting Of Sons Of American Revolution

OLD FLAG IS DISPLAYED

W. A. Alexander and Austin Frazee as representatives of the local organization of the Sons of the American Revolution, attended the state meeting of the organization Monday night at the University Club in Indianapolis. A large attendance was present for the meeting, which represented the entire state.

One of the chief features of the evening's entertainment was the display of a flag which was given by Anthony Wayne, general of the U. S. forces, who overcame the Indians in the northern part of the state, to the Indian chief Chinamechese, George Washington, at that time president of the United States, requested General Wayne to present the Indians with a flag when they were conquered.

The flag which has been well preserved, displayed no stars, but there were fifteen stripes representing the fifteen colonies at that time.

CHANGE EFFECTIVE MARCH 1

A slight change in service, to become effective March 1 was announced by Amos Baxter, superintendent of the I. & C. traction line today. The Connersville dispatch, he said will stop at Maury and Glenwood when flagged or on request of passengers on the cars. These towns are regular limited stops.

WANTS TO SEE WAR VETERANS

Representative Of Veterans Bureau Of Indianapolis Here For Week

Miss Margaret Groward, a representative of the Veterans' Bureau of Indianapolis, is in Rushville this week, and is located at the recorder's office in the court house, where she is anxious of meeting all World War Veterans who are disabled, and are drawing compensation.

Any of the soldiers who desire to take the matter of compensation up with the state representative, should also attend, but it is especially urged that all soldiers who now are on the list, should see her at their earliest opportunity. She will remain in Rushville all week for that purpose.

COURT REFUSES CLEMENCY PLEA

Fred Clevenger, 21, and Denver Pea 17, Sentenced to Reformatory, Plead for Leniency

GUILTY OF GRAND LARCENY

Sentence of One to Fourteen Years in Each Case Passed—House Breaking Charge Changed

The two men accused in the robbery of the residence of Mrs. Cora W. Dillon, were arraigned this morning in circuit court before Judge Sparks and each pleaded guilty, receiving a fine of $50 and costs and a sentence of from 1 to 14 years in the state reformatory. Fred Clevenger, gave his age as 21, and his companion, Denver Pea, gave his age as 17.

The charge against them was house breaking, and in order to reduce their sentence, it was changed to grand larceny. The house breaking or burglarly charge carried a sentence of from 10 to 20 years.

The two pleaded for leniency, but Judge Sparks told them that under such circumstances the sentence could not be withheld. Clevenger was found guilty January 15 in this court to a petit larceny charge, and had just finished serving a 30 day jail sentence, when he was arrested as a suspect in the robbery of the dwelling house.

Sheriff Hunt will leave in a day or so with the two prisoners, as each will serve their sentences at the reformatory in Jeffersonville.

The Farmers and First National Bank of Newcastle has filed suit in the circuit court against Rayburn B. Henley of this county, the complaint being on a note, with the demand placed at $99.

Carl O'Neil has filed objections and exceptions to the final report in the settlement of the estate of his father, Michael O'Neil and objects to the report of Edward O'Neil, administrator. The settlement of property has been in court for several months, and for this reason the plaintiff alleges that the report should not be filed at this time.

Judge Sparks today was sitting in a court case of William H. Grocox against Edward C. Bell, et al., the matter involving a note, in which the plaintiff is seeking $450 judgment. The case was taking most of the day for trial, after an attempt at compromise failed this morning.

TO STAND TRIAL SATURDAY

Elmer Perkins Of Near New Salem Is Accused By Carthage Girl

Elmer Perkins of near New Salem will stand trial Saturday afternoon at one o'clock in Justice Stech's court on a paternity charge, which has been preferred by Ruth Hanshaw of near Carthage.

The case of the Mohawk Rubber company against Howell brothers, a complaint on an account, was postponed from Monday until March 7.

The court Monday was occupied with the case of Nettie Jones against Gertrude Fultz and Harry Jones, a complaint to replevin household goods, and Justice Stech took the matter under advisement, and will render his decision in a few days.

GASOLINE TAX BILL DEFEATED

Measure Lacks Constitutional Majority Of Fifty-One When Voted On In The House

M'CRAY'S PLANS COLLAPSE

General Property Tax May Be Necessary For Highway Department—Memorial Day Bill Passes

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—A proposed tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline failed today when the state house of representatives failed to approve it.

The vote on a bill providing for the tax was 47 to 46, lacking the constitutional majority of fifty-one, which is required for passage.

Failure of the measure to pass, completes the collapse of Governor McCray's plan to finance the state highway department and leaves that department with greatly depleted funds.

Friends of the governor said it would be necessary to increase the general property tax to care for road construction and improvement in Indiana if the highway department continues to function.

However, the bill may be reconsidered on the rules of the house which permits any measure not actually defeated by a majority vote to be reconsidered.

Wet forces of the state showed their hand for the first time in the session with the introduction of a bill by Representative Schwartz of Indianapolis to repeal the state prohibition law. There was admittedly little chance of its passage because it will be caught in the crowded legislative mills during the few remaining days. Even if it should pass, Indiana would remain dry by state and federal constitutional amendment, but it would be possible to obtain liquor in medicine prescriptions.

As a sequel to withdrawal of the bill requiring anyone to have a permit from the department of conservation before taking sand from Lake Michigan in Indiana, Senator Steele introduced a bill which would prohibit anyone from taking sand from the lake.

Governor McCray today commanded the fate of the annual Memorial Day 500-mile automobile sweepstakes on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

CONFERENCE REVIEW OCCUPIES ROTARIANS

"High Spots" of Recent Indiana Meeting at Michigan City Presented at Today's Luncheon

NINE FROM HERE ATTENDED

The program at the regular meeting of the Rotary club today noon was devoted to a review of the "high spots" of the annual Indiana conference of Rotary clubs at Michigan City, last week, which was attended by nine members of the Rushville club.

Warder Wytt, president, reviewed the district governor's address; Lee Endres, the address by George Tapp of Crawfordsville on "The Boy and His Gang"; H. S. Havens, the address by Rabbi Ed Isreal of Evansville on "Membership in Rotary"; Louis Mauzy, the address by Merle Siderer of Indianapolis on "Business Methods"; Roy Harrold, the address by Ex-Governor A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota on "Citizenship and Constitutional Government"; John A. Titworth, the address by M. S. Rice of Detroit on "Junk"; and L. L. Allen gave his impressions of a visit to the Indiana state prison. Will O. Fendner described the entertainment at the conference.

Music at today's luncheon was given by Miss Mary Louise Wyatt, violinist, and Miss Brenda Kinsinger, pianist. H. M. Newkirk of Maize was the only guest present.

LAST WARNING IS GIVEN TO PATRONS

Must Have Mail Boxes At Homes By Thursday Or Mail Delivery Service Will Be Stopped

AMPLE NOTICE GIVEN THEM

Postal Authorities Point To Practice Of Leaving Letters To Be Mailed As Violation Of Rules

The postoffice department has issued the final call to patrons in Rushville, regarding the placing of mail boxes on their front porches at some convenient place, and a failure to comply with the order will mean a discontinuance of mail service after Thursday of this week.

The postal authorities here stated today that many people had misread the rule. The order does not set out the fact that the mail box must meet any special regulation as to size or shape demanded by the government; in fact, the order is clear, and reads that any kind of a receptacle is all that is necessary.

The carriers in Rushville prefer an open end box, without lids or slots, so that the mail can quickly be placed in it. An ordinary cigar box, sawed off at one end makes an ideal container, and is much preferable to some of the kinds sold in stores, according to the carriers.

Many people who had such boxes misread the order, and have taken them down, according to the postal clerks, and have gone to the expense of buying boxes, which are cumbersome. A slot in the front door, is also acceptable.

Postmaster A. L. Riggs stated today that a practice was being made in Rushville, which would have to be stopped by patrons. This practice is placing letters to be mailed, in the boxes for the postman to pick up.

The city is well covered with government mail boxes on street corners for this class of mail, and there is no rule which requires letter carriers to pick up outgoing mail from the house boxes.

The carriers are frequently delayed in picking up letters, and many people even go so far as to drop pennies in their boxes to pay for postage, which also is not permitted, and which causes delay to the carriers.

The prime purpose in compelling people to place mail boxes at a convenient place on the porch is to assist in giving quicker service by the Continued on page three

KIDNAPER WILL BE CHARGED WITH MURDER

Crowd Of Several Thousand Gathers Around Philadelphia Station When Confession Becomes Known

SMALL GIRL'S BODY FOUND

(By United Press)
Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—The body of little six-year-old Lillian Gilmore, victim of a fiendish kidnaper, was found frozen in the Neshaunim creek, near Croydon, Pa., at midnight.

Wylie Morgan, self-confessed abductor, will be formally charged with murder today, authorities said.

A crowd of several thousand persons gathered around the police station when word of the confession was spread and shouted threats of violence against the prisoner.

The station in the heart of the Kensington mill section, was under extra guard and armed men filled the doorways, standing off the mob.

The body of the little girl was found after Morgan confessed to the crime. He guided the police to the creek where he had thrown the body of the girl and cried "there she is, I killed her". The police said.

Five men, holding lanterns high so that they might peer into the darkness, recovered the body from the icy water. The little girl's body showed signs of a terrible beating. A superficial examination revealed her jaw broken in five places, her arms, hands and legs were cut. Police believe Morgan had bent Lillian in the face, until she died.

BIG TAXPAYERS ARE PAYING

Many Pay To Avoid Having Money Assessed For Taxation March 1

Some activity is noticeable at the county treasurer's office where taxpayers are beginning to pay their spring installment of taxes. Although the spring installment is now due, the majority of taxpayers wait until near the close of the season, the first Monday in May being the last day on which taxes can be paid without the taxpayer being penalized.

Many who pay big sums in taxes meet their spring installment before the first of March, so as not to have the money assessed for taxation. This accounts for the activity at the treasurer's office for the past few days according to the county treasurer.

President Harding Selects New in Spite of Opposition—Work Going to Interior Department

(By United Press)
Washington, Feb. 27.—President Harding today gave Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, recently defeated for reelection, a place in the cabinet.

The president sent to the senate the senator's nomination to be postmaster general. New succeeds Postmaster General Work of Colorado, who was selected as secretary of the interior to succeed Albert Fall, whose resignation becomes effective March 4.

The president is understood to have made his selection about ten days ago. He has been under strong pressure not to appoint New. In putting New in the cabinet, Harding is standing by an old friend.

Work being a western man, has been interested in matters coming under the jurisdiction of the interior department.

New is sixty-four years old. He was born in Indianapolis and spent most of his life in Indiana. He was elected to the senate in 1916 but was defeated for renomination by Senator Beveridge in the primary last year.

Work is sixty-two. He was born in Indiana county, Pennsylvania. For many years he was a prominent physician. President Harding first named him as assistant postmaster general and elevated him to the head of the department when Will Hays resigned to become czar of the movies.

FUNERAL IS NOT ARRANGED

Services For C. J. Bickhart Await Word From Relatives At a Distance

The funeral services for C. J. Bickhart, Rushville miller who was killed in machinery at his mill some time Monday, and whose mangled body was found in the afternoon, were not decided upon today, as word was waited from relatives residing at a distance.

Mr. Bickhart's untimely death proved a severe shock on his family. His body was found in a pit at his mill, and it is the belief that his clothing caught in a shaft, and caused his body to be dragged into the wheels. His death was attributed to a crushed skull, near the base of the brain, although several ribs were broken and imbedded in flesh near his heart.

WOMEN ARE WITNESSES

New York, Feb. 27.—Two women employees of the anti-Saloon League were principal witnesses today in the additional grand jury's hearing of evidence concerning allegations of misappropriation of league funds against William H. Anderson, state superintendent.

RED RUST CREEPS ON RUHR DISTRICT

Best Evidence of Success or Failure of Occupation of German Area by French and Belgians

50,000 PERSONS ARE IDLE

Reveals Success of Invaders' Aims but Reflects Failure to Procure Reparations in Coal

By WEBB MILLER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright, 1923 by United Press)
Paris, Feb. 27.—Rust—mile upon mile—a rusted net work of railways, roundhouses filled with rusted locomotives, cars with rusting wheels on silent sidings—that is the most striking, the most tell-tale evidence of the success or failure of the occupation of the Ruhr. It is far more informative than any official interview or statistics.

On an automobile ride through a dozen or more Ruhr towns, I observed the extension of the red rust which marks the creeping paralysis overcoming the nervous system of the great industrial organism. One by one the tall smokestacks hedging the horizon are ceasing to smoke as the paralysis reaches them.

Already fifty thousand persons are idle in the Ruhr valley and their number will increase from now on in a growing ratio. Hundreds of thousands of others are engaged in non-productive work. Raw material and stocks are fast diminishing, meaning that the factories must soon shut down.

From one viewpoint, this paralysis shows success of Franco-Belgian aims. Owing to the resistance of Germany's industrialists, the French and Belgians feel they must paralyze the occupied area, to force capitulation.

But the glare of the red rust reflects the failure of the invaders to procure reparations in coal—one of the avowed objects of the occupation. Officials now admit the impossibility of obtaining an appreciable amount of coal unless and until the West Phalian miners decide to work under orders of the French and Belgians.

ROADS WORST THEY HAVE BEEN THIS YEAR

Highway Superintendent Says It Is Practically Impossible To Drag When They Are Soft

BOTTOM FALLS OUT OF THEM

The bottom has dropped out of the country roads, according to Hal Green, county highway superintendent, who said today that they were worse than they have been at any time this winter.

The continual freezing and thawing has caused some of the best surfaced roads in the county to break through and the county highway force is unable to cope with the situation, according to Mr. Green.

He says that bad stretches of roads that developed last winter were repaired during the summer, as long as the funds held out, but the road superintendent pointed out that the county had only $63,000 for this work and 386 miles of road to maintain.

Many complaints are being received but while the roads are so soft the highway superintendent does not put the big trucks on the roads because the damage they do. While the ground was frozen last week, a bad stretch a half mile long on the Megee pike, southeast of Rushville, was graveled.

It was a waste of time and money to put drags on the roads this morning, Mr. Green contended, because the first vehicle passing over them after dragging would cut the road up again.

Income Tax Facts
NO. 22

With certain limitations interest and taxes paid during the taxable year may be deducted from gross income. Such items include interest upon a personal loan and taxes on a dwelling, as well as interest on business debts and taxes upon business property. The Federal income tax, however may not be deducted, nor may there be included any special assessments for local benefits tending to improve the value of the property, such as paving or drainage assessments—since they are, in fact, the cost of a permanent improvement.

Obligations of the United States issued prior to September 2, 1917, are wholly exempt from the Federal income tax. Hence interest paid or accrued on indebtedness incurred, or continued to purchase or carry such obligations, is not an allowable deduction from gross income.

Personal indebtedness includes not only money borrowed to defray personal expenses—clothing, food, etc.—but also money borrowed for the purchase of real estate. If a person owes money secured by lien or mortgage on his home the amount of interest paid on such indebtedness may be deducted. Moreover, interest paid by the taxpayer on a mortgage upon real estate of which he is the legal or equitable owner, even though the taxpayer is not directly liable upon the bond or note secured by such mortgage, may be deducted as interest on his indebtedness.

HUDSON ESSEX COACH

There are two great facts in the automobile world today. First, enclosed cars are here to stay and open models will be used mostly as semi-sport cars.

Second, the dominant character of enclosed cars has changed. They are utilities now, not luxuries.

A bulletin by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce reports that 60 per cent of motor buyers prefer the enclosed model; they want it for comfort, protection, everyday usefulness.

In Massachusetts, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, California and Pennsylvania, the preference is well over 60 per cent. In the southern states the demand is less marked, but still important and growing.

It seems to me that this is nothing less than a marvelous development, an overnight event of epochal importance in the industry. Who would have thought 12 months ago that it would be more difficult to sell open cars than enclosed ones? Yet that is the exact truth today.

Who would have said a year ago that the greatest problem today would be for the body manufacturers to turn out a volume production of enclosed cars? And that the companies who were so foresighted as to make their arrangements for a volume of enclosed cars would be selling their capacity out?

Demand for Enclosed Cars

Now this demand being disclosed and admitted, isn't it reasonable that the automobile trade, reflecting this desire, should tell the manufacturers of the industry to turn out enclosed bodies in volume under a standardized system—as a few companies did last year? We must have quantity production in enclosed bodies.

If it weren't for its notable spirit of response to public demand, the American automobile business would still be a small time trade rather than one of the world's great-giant industries. It reasoned: If standardized manufacture could produce such wonderful results in the quality and price of chassis, why not in bodies also?

The answer this last year has been that such methods will win. And so we have come to that wonderful utility value, an enclosed car of all-weather comfort, medium price, high operating ability and economical maintenance.

Now there is no doubt but that other types of enclosed cars will survive. Nor is there any reason to think that the open car will lack its own admirers.

But isn't the fact apparent that the motorist who can have but one make of car, and who wishes to use that car in all seasons for both business and recreation, will seek the medium-priced enclosed car which best meets the general average of his needs?

Art Combined With Utility

This car, it should be understood, cannot be skimped in any important particular. It must be reliable both in chassis and body. It must give the purchaser assurance that the body will last as long as the chassis. The body may have straight instead of curved lines, and the equipment in line with the general purpose of the car should be chosen for utility. But it must be priced right and render a definite, comfortable service.

In the Hudson and Essex Coaches—which will enable us to break all records by producing 75 per cent of our 1923 output in enclosed cars—a public want is being supplied—a car which has been designed for the great average of the public's requirements. It is provided with a motor car which has excellent performance, long life, low upkeep, and a body which makes it useful as an all-year car. And because the public responds in large numbers—it is obtaining a more favorable price than ever before for such all-around usefulness.

used today by the Berlin government when authoritative dispatches from Cologne stated that black troops occupied Konigswinter.

The garrison at Bonn also includes colored troops, the Germans maintained.

The French have officially denied the presence of colored troops with the new army of occupation. At the same time, it was stated today that the class of 1922, many of whom are in the Ruhr, may be recalled. These youngsters may be replaced with others even younger.

The German government protested to Paris regarding a series of alleged cruelties, including proven cases of three deaths and about a score of persons being wounded.

One particular instance that was stressed by Berlin was the driving of guests from a theatre at Recklinghausen with whips. Another was when passengers were whipped from a train at Wanne.

which admission is charged awaited his signatures. If he signs it the measure becomes a law immediately. If he writes "vet" across the bottom, it cannot become a law because there are not sufficient opponents of the race in the house of representatives to pass the bill over a veto. The veto by which it was approved by the house was 53 to 38 and 67 votes are necessary to override an executive veto.

As a result of this position of power in one of the most interesting fights in the legislature the governor was subjected to the strongest pressure from both sides of the question.

Speedway officials, with a heavy advance seat sale, said the race will be run this year despite the act, and their friends were seeking to make the matter easier by inducing the governor to reject the bill.

On the other hand, officials of the American Legion and other interests that guided the "Blue Memorial Day" bill through the assembly were seeking to assure its final approval.

Members of the Indianapolis delegation in the house of representatives were reported to have warned the governor his signature on the bill would be a signal for them to overthrow the small republican majority in the house and defeat his program.

This one argument carries more weight than any other. Included in the governor's program is the foundation of the entire financial structure for the next two fiscal years. It includes the vital points of McCray's intention to accomplish great work in highway improvement and school reforms during his administration.

Satisfactory completion of the reformatory now under construction, is also at stake. With the eleven republican representatives from Indianapolis jumping over the traces, the $2,000,000 appropriation asked by the governor to finish the reformatory job, would be butchered and other appropriations provided at McCray's recommendation would be jeopardized.

Late yesterday the house passed the bill for increasing automobile license fees so amended that it bore no resemblance to the original administration measure. It actually would deprive the highway commission of some of the money it now receives instead of increasing the amount and administration leaders would prefer its defeat unless the senate changes it.

BILL DEFEATED

AMUSEMENTS

Coming To Mystic Tomorrow

When Shirley Mason's newest picture, "Pawn Ticket 210" comes to the Mystic Theatre on Wednesday the audience will be given a rare treat. William Fox the producer of this picture, at great expense purchased the famous play by David Belasco, near of all stage producers and Clay M. Green, one time famous playwright. It was because of the fact that Miss Mason is fast becoming one of the screen's foremost favorites and to provide the tiny star with vehicles of the first class, that the producer made the purchase.

According to advance reports Miss Mason does some of the best work of her meteoric career in the screen adaptation of this sensational stage success. The story deals with a young woman who has been placed in the care of a pawn broker by her mother.

Years later, when the young woman had blossomed into womanhood and had learned much of life, the mother returns. At the conclusion the woman finds her husband and all live happily.

Scott Dunlap, who has directed many screen successes is responsible for the direction of Miss Mason's late triumph.

"Singed Wings" Again Today

Seven cameras were trained on Bebe Daniels, Conrad Nagel and Adolphe Menjou during the filming of an exciting fight scene between the latter two in "Singed Wings." Penrhyn Stanlaw's latest production for Paramount features Miss Daniels and Conrad Nagel, and which comes to the Princess theatre again today. Every possible angle was made use of by the cameramen to get results.

The reason for the unusual number of photographers on the set is explained by the scene itself. Mr. Menjou has managed to persuade Bonita, a dance hall girl, played by Miss Daniels, into his big country home. Her sweetheart, Peter Gordon, portrayed by Mr. Nagel, has followed and attempts to slip into the house without being seen. But he is observed by the villain, who seizes a vase and smashes it over Peter's head, as he quietly enters a window. A fight follows, the fight crashes out and the fight develops into a struggle of life and death. It ends when Bonita recognizes Peter and, throwing her strength into the battle, manages to stop it.

The danger of breaking Mr. Nagel's head was extreme. There were possibilities of severe cuts. It was for this reason that so many cameras were trained on the scene. Only six pictures were taken. They were good and parts of each serve to make up a most exciting episode in "Singed Wings."

THE BURDEN BEARER:

The Tariff Law

A review of the operations of the tariff law passed by the congress, which is drawing to the end of its term this week, shows an increase of nearly twenty percent in exports, which has not only confounded the enemies of protection, but has likewise astounded its friends, who felt that some increase would be recorded, but did not dream that such an increase would be recorded in so short a time.

It was the stock argument of those opposed to the bill that it would seriously curtail our export trade, due principally to the fact, as they viewed it, that imports would be walled out and foreign nations would consequently stop buying so largely from America. Here is how the first four months of foreign selling puts that statement to blush:

Month	1921-2—Exports—1922-3
Oct.	$343,000,000 $371,000,000
Nov.	294,000,000 380,000,000
Dec.	296,000,000 344,000,000
Jan.	279,000,000 339,000,000

Total $1,212,000,000 $1,434,000,000

This is a total increase in the brief space of one-third year of $222,000,000 in value, and since prices were not so high in the 1922-3 period, it is evident that the increase in quantity of exports was even more marked. At the present rate of increase there seems little reason now to doubt that our exports will reach $4,500,000,000 for the first 12 months of the new law, and with imports estimated at between three and a quarter billions our favorable balance of trade will reach somewhere between a billion and a quarter and a billion and a half of dollars. This seems certain notwithstanding the fact that the purchasing power of Europe will be seriously curtailed by the situation in Germany and Austria and Russia, and economics instituted in other purchasing countries, added to which is the fact that the policy of tariff protection has become well-nigh universal, Great Britain herself, long the leader in free trade, having returned to the protective policy.

It is reported that the anti-protectionists are heart-sick over the situation. They had planned to begin an aggressive campaign against the tariff as soon as Congress had adjourned, to be kept up throughout the campaign of 1924. They had quite frankly admitted that the tariff would once more be their trump card in the presidential fight, and now they are discovering it to be the denec of an off suit. They were positive that our export trade with Europe would dwindle so rapidly that a reaction against the party in power would take place.

The Motor Bus Bill

There seems to be no way to account for the action of the Indiana legislature in disposing of proposed legislation. The majority of the members of the house, which is composed largely of farmers, profess their interest in good roads, yet they kill a bill which seeks to put motor trucks and busses acting as common carriers under control of the state public service commission the same as other public utilities.

As the situation now stands, the motor busses and trucks tear up our roads, yet the owners of these trucks who make hauling their business, pay no more for the upkeep of roads than any owner of an automobile.

One contention of those who opposed the bill was that it was fostered by the traction interests. Suppose it was? All they were asking for was a square deal. The railroads and traction lines pay 10.51 percent of the taxes in the state. They not only maintain their own road bed, but they help keep up the highways by paying road taxes in proportion to the amount of their assessment.

One opponent of the bill said that if the bill were passed, soon the public service commission would not permit motor trucks and busses to run on roads that were parallel with traction lines and railroads. This is nothing more than loose talk and should have been considered as such because the public service commission has not abused its power; in fact, it can not afford to because public sentiment would not permit any injustice being worked.

The motor trucks and busses can haul for less because the dear public is paying the bills, whereas the traction lines and railroads keep up their own lines and at the same time pay taxes on their property. If there was ever a bill that was in the interest of the taxpayers, this was one, and those who voted against it

From The Daily Republican
Thursday, February 27, 1908.

The many friends of Joseph Holman were shocked this morning when the sad news went over the county that the aged pioneer of Rush county had died suddenly at the home of his son, Lot Holman in Noble township.

Miss Elizabeth Bishop has gone to Connersville to spend a few days with her sister before leaving for Indianapolis, where she will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McCloud. Miss Bishop is one of Rushville's most estimable young ladies and leaves many friends in this city.

Rushville music lovers have a rare treat in store for them, for the De Pauw University glee club is coming here for a concert on the night of Wednesday, March 25.

The following market quotations were published on this date: Hogs, per hundred pounds, $4 to $4.10; chickens, per pound, 7 cents; hens, on foot, per pound, 8 cents; eggs, per dozen, 17 cents; butter, country, per pound, 19 cents; wheat, 90 cents; potatoes per bushel, 95 cents; apples, per bushel, $1.25.

Mrs. A. T. Mallin of North Harrison street went to Knightstown yesterday to see her brother, Lou Rouché, who is seriously ill there. Lou formerly lived here and has many friends in Rushville. He has been conducting a drug store in Knightstown for several years.

Miss Ruby Hayes of Lewisville is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas, in North Perkins street.

Hittin' 'Em & Missin' 'Em

No word yet out the Moscow deal, but Hittin' 'Em is hoping that Mr. Hsaa will reconsider the matter and make room for the Orange township team.

ONE DRAWING WAS CHANGED

The drawing at Shelbyville was changed Sunday, when a similar mistake was discovered. Geneva, a town in Shelby county was overlooked, and the entry blank was found tucked away someplace. It was mailed from the postoffice at Flatrock, and the state officials thought that it contained the Flatrock list. The Moscow list was mailed from the Milroy postoffice, and perhaps Mr. Hsaa made a similar mistake. We'd suggest that it would be a good idea if he would go through his pockets, and maybe he could find the missing list.

At any rate, if Rushville can't turn the trick, let's boost for a Rush county team. It is bound to be a Rush county team in the final game, so we all should get behind them and root our heads off for 'em. They will need it.

Lot of dopsters are giving Manilla and Carthage the place in the final list with Connersville. Either one of these teams could battle Connersville to a good game.

Two good officials were drawn for the sectional. Fred Bills of Washington township and Gilbert Best of Franklin. The fans should give them the glad hand when they come out on the floor.

CONNERSVILLE TO HELP

Connersville called us last night, and wanted to know about the Moscow affair. We told 'em the facts, and they said they would exert their influence with Mr. Hsaa, and see if they couldn't have Moscow placed in the tourney. Thank, Connersville.

LET'S WIN THE TOURNNEY, WHAT DO YOU SAY GANG?

Connersville feels pretty confident of going through the tourney in easy

fashion. Somebody ought to stop 'em and get that notion out of their head. Let's win the tourney, what do you say?

HERE'S WORD FROM A FAN AT MILROY

Hittin' 'em and Missin' 'em—What do you think about this? Moscow high school will not be in the sectional at Rushville. Isn't that a shame? We fans wanted to see them more on account of their dashing playing. Gosnell is undoubtedly the most brilliant and spectacular player in Rush county. Now we are robbed of some of the best playing in the tourney. Mr. Hittin' 'em, why couldn't you arrange to have Moscow play somebody some time during Friday or Saturday between the sectional games. Here is my all-county team.

- F. Baker, Manilla.
- F. Talbert, Webb.
- F. Hilligoss, Rushville.
- C. Gosnell, Moscow.
- C. Walker, Rushville.
- G. Cowan, Milroy.
- G. Tillison, Moscow.
- G. McCorkle, Milroy.

Yours truly,
Milroy H. S. Fan.

RUSHVILLE IS MENTIONED

Hardwood in the Star is receiving selections of Big Sixteen teams which will win the sectionals and survive the regionals, coming to Indianapolis on March 16 and 17. In the various lists submitted, appears Rushville in several of them, and in one case Milroy is mentioned. In no case is Connersville given mention. If we were Rushville we'd live up to the predictions, and show 'em we could once more go to the state tourney.

† † †

LET'S SEND FOR DR. COUE AGAIN GANG HE WON THE NEW-CASTLE GAME FOR US, AND HE COULD DO WONDERS IN THE TOURNNEY.

Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN—that's why it relieves constipation!

Half-way measures mean nothing to the man, woman or child whose very existence is threatened by the habitual clogging of the elimination channels. Foods with only part bran can never clean and sweep the intestines in the nature-way as does Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

And, Kellogg's Bran is as delicious in flavor as it is positive in its action. If it is eaten regularly—two table-spoonfuls daily, in chronic cases, with each meal—it will permanently relieve the most aggravated case.

Your health will be greatly improved within a brief period if you will eat this delicious Kellogg cereal. Know what Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, will do for you and for your loved ones. There is no time to be lost in getting the relief that Kellogg's Bran assures.

Kellogg's Bran is delightful as a cereal, sprinkled over any hot or cold cereal, or served in countless appetizing ways in baking and cooking. It makes the best sort of pancakes, muffins, raisin bread, macaroons, etc., you ever ate. And, each mouthful contributes to health! Kellogg recipes are printed on each package. Kellogg's Bran works for you all the time! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran for constipation.

A simply complexion or an offensive breath can both be overcome by the regular use of Kellogg's Bran, which is sold by grocers everywhere.

New York, Feb. 27—New third basemen, worth nearly a quarter of a million dollars, will be trotted out next year in the major leagues. Four brand new rookie stars will make their debut on the big time and four other clubs may give utility men a chance to replace faltering veterans.

Desperately in need of a third baseman, the Chicago White Sox went into the market and bought the most highly touted—Willie Kamm—from the San Francisco Pacific Coast League club for $100,000.

Connie Mack came next and he nearly knocked out the entire circuit when he paid $75,000 for Sammy Hale, another coast product. Cleveland kicked in $35,000 for Lutzke and the Cubs let go of $30,000 for Grantham.

The Indians may find no room for Lutzke, however, as Riggs Stephenson, one of the utility infielders, was said by the players to have been the most improved ball player of the

barnstormers who toured the Orient. Washington and the St. Louis Cards could use new third basemen and the Browns will have to find one if they are to get any place next year.

Finding them is a tough proposition, however. If four good ones come up in a year, it may be four years before one more good one is found.

From more recent developments the predicament of Benneh Leonard, the lightweight champion, isn't as precarious as it was several weeks ago. Benny had been measured by everyone for a pine box, on the theory that Charley White would get him, if Lew Tendler didn't.

Rocky Kansas, the sturdy little Buffalo fighter, then stepped in and gave White the worst beating of his career, just when Charley's name was ready to go to the printers for Leonard posters.

Tendler smashed up his glass hands again in his recent bout with Pal Moran and he is out of it for a long while. He may be able to give the champion another hard fight, but no one with weak hands is going to store Benneh away.

Chicago—Joek Malone, St. Paul, scored a technical knockout in the sixth round of a scheduled ten round bout over Johnny Klesich, Cleveland.

Terre Haute—Bud Perril, won a technical knockout over Paul Mathelin, in the second. California Joe Gans knocked out Battling Ball in the third.

Milwaukee—Jimmy Delany out-pointed Ted Jameson in ten rounds.

Indianapolis—Jimmy Dalton knocked out Ray Rivers, four rounds.

Brockton, Mass.—Billy DeFoe, St. Paul featherweight, won a 10 round decision from Harry Carlson, Brockton.

Detroit—Ever Hammer, Chicago lightweight, was ordered out of the ring in the sixth round of his fight with Sid Barbarian because he refused to fight.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

CHICAGO'S LABOR WAR CLAIMS 26TH VICTIM

"Red" Kinsella, Notorious Gangster Shot To Death In Pitched Battle At Butcher's Union Meeting

MEMBERS OF UNION WOUNDED

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Chicago's labor war claimed its twenty-sixth victim today when "Red" Kinsella, notorious gangster, was shot to death in a pitched battle at a meeting of the Butcher's Union.

Paul Rodin member of the union, was wounded in the shoulder.

The gun battle broke out during a heated discussion over an attempt of the Hebrew Butchers to secede from the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers of America. More than fifty shots were fired. Four or five men took part in the affray.

Following the shooting members of the union fled. When police arrived the hall was empty.

Kinsella was found dead a few blocks away. Rodin was taken to the hospital by persons attracted by the shots.

Police attempted to round up members of the union who were present in an effort to learn the motive for the shooting.

Kinsella was known as a member of the "valley gang." He had a long police record.

Rodin told the police he was climbing the stairs to the meeting when the shooting started. He said he saw several of the men back out of the door with smoking guns in their hands.

SANITATION WILL PREVENT WORMS

Quarters Where Pigs Are to be Far-

ROUND WORM MOST COMMON

Pigs Allowed Full Range of Old
Hog Lots are Certain to Become
Infested With Parasites

By DR. L. C. KIGIN
(Veterinary Department Purdue
University)

To economically raise hogs, worms
must be prevented from gaining entrance into the pig's body.

The most common intestinal worm
of hogs found in Indiana, is the round worm (ascaris suis). This worm varies in length from seven to twelve inches, and they obtain their
foods supply from the partly digested
contents of the small intestines
which they inhabit. The female worm produces a great number of eggs
which pass out with the excrement.
If the feed of the hogs becomes contaminated with this material, the
eggs are taken into the stomach of
the hogs where the young worms are hatched.

The young worms find their way
to the lungs through the blood
stream where the worms spend a part of their life; then they pass up
the windpipe and are swallowed
soon reaching the small intestines
where they complete their development.

If they are in great numbers in the small intestines the vitality of
the pig is sapped and treatment is of little value in such cases. The harm

TO PLACE AT HEAD OF HERD

Mrs. Irene Reeves Buys River Side
Prince in Wayne County

The following from the Richmond,
Ind., Item tells of the purchase of
Riverside Prince near Cambridge
City to place at the head of her herd
of Spotted Poland China hogs:

It is interesting to know that Mrs.
Irene Reeves of Rush county and
one of the best Spotted Poland China judges in the state after looking over some of the best herds in the country came to the herd of Lindley
Baker just north of Cambridge City
and bought River Side Prince to be placed at the head of her herd which is considered to be one of the best
through this section of the corn belt.
River Side Prince was shown by Mr.
Baker's daughter in the pig club
show at the Wayne county fair last fall, winning third in this show and
second in the open class.

HARVESTING SOY BEAN CROP ON RILEY COULTER FARM IN RICHLAND TOWNSHIP

A few acres of soy beans have no
terrors for Riley Coulter of Richland Township. In 1921 he grew his first crop of beans, putting out 28
acres. He liked them so well that he increased his acreage last year to 49 acres planted alone, besides
planting beans in all his 110 acres
of corn. This spring he plans to increase his acreage still more and
will sow 54 acres to thresh.

Mr. Coulter says that he does not intend to make any change in the method of handling the crop, and he
has found his method of last year
satisfactory. His crop was sown
with a big grain drill with part of
the holes closed so as to drill in rows about 28 to 30 inches apart.
They were drilled around and around the field, rather than across
the field. Mr. Coulter believes in cultivation, and went over his crop
three times with an ordinary corn
cultivator, going around the field the same way they were drilled.

The accompanying illustration
shows how Mr. Coulter handled the harvesting of the crop. As shown in the cut, the beans were cut and
bound with an ordinary grain binder, which was followed by a disc followed in turn by the wheat drill. In this way one does not need to wait
till the beans are removed before sowing the wheat crop, as the bundles are dropped on the ground that
the drill had passed over. They were later shocked in small shocks to be threshed later. A modified grain separator was used to thresh the beans
and did satisfactory work.

Possibly the discing could have
been eliminated because the ground
had been cultivated three times in the tending of the bean crop, and
then too beans have a similar effect
on the soil as tomatoes, that of loosening up the soil. It might have been a good idea to leave the disc
off and follow the drill with a culti-

are not getting the benefit of the law's protection. The law requires
not only that the seed must be labeled, but the label must be properly
filled in.

Although the power of enforcing
the law is vested in the seed commissioner, the farmers of Indiana
can secure 100 percent enforcement
by refusing to purchase seed unless
the seed-law label is attached and by insisting that all the data required
on the label be properly given.

It has come to the attention of
the seed commissioner that a number of dealers seem to think that
the mere presence of the label means compliance with the law. Other dealers fill in the front of the label correctly but fail to state the
number of weed seeds per pound as required on the back of the label. In many cases a knowledge of the number of seeds per pound is more important than the percent of purity.
For instance, clover seed may be
98 percent pure, but if the 2 percent
impurity is made up entirely of dod-
der seeds, such seed may contain

POTATO SCAB IS COMMON DISEASE

Corrosive Sublimate Solution Gives Best Results in Controlling Scab and Other Diseases

SEED SHOULD BE TREATED

Thorough Treatment When Potatoes Are Dormant Along With Crop Rotation Will Control Scab

Scab is quite common in Rush county and causes considerable loss. While many farmers have partly controlled this disease with formaldehyde, the corrosive sublimate treatment more effectively handles it as well as black scurf and black leg and so should be used in this county. Growers should not forget to treat even Certified seed stocks as these are liable to have a small amount of scab and black scurf on the outside.

To treat potatoes quickly and effectively secure three old vinegar or whiskey barrels and bore an inch hole in the sides of two of them near the bottom so that the solution can be withdrawn easily from them after each treatment. Mount two of these barrels on a substantial platform, 16 inches from the ground. The third barrel is the one in which to make the poison solution. Fill it almost full of water, near the other two. Then dissolve 7 ounces of powdered corrosive sublimate in a quart glass can. The water in the glass can should be boiling hot as the poison dissolves much more readily in hot water. After the corrosive sublimate is dissolved, pour it into the 50 gallons of water in the barrel. Now fill the other two barrels level full of potatoes and pour in the poison solution until the potatoes in both barrels are covered. Allow them to soak for an hour and a half, then withdraw the poison solution thru the holes at the bottom and pour back into the original barrel. Fill up the barrel again until it is as full as before and add another ounce and a half of poison. Meanwhile the potatoes are taken out of the barrels and spread out to dry

An' make the ole cow pay.

When to sell your wheat an' rye,
An' when to hole on to it.
New ways of makin' pumkin' pie
If you will only do it.

He wants the farmers ever'where
To put there wool in pool;
But I have a sneakin' idea
'Twould be better on the spool.

Th' ole pool 's so full o' trash
That when you git a bite,
'Round some stone or log or wire,
Your fish jest gits fast tite.

Say; What would a feller do
If all the farmers 'round
Would put their wool in ever' pool—
They'd spile our fishin' groun'.

and the barrels are again filled and this process of treatment continued. After four treatments are made the fifth treatment is given without adding any new poison to the old solution.

Thorough treatment when potatoes are dormant, along with crop rotation will largely control scab and black scurf. If the tubers have sprouted cut down the length of treatment to a half hour. After the potatoes are all treated drain the remainder of the solution into the ground as it is very poisonous and should never be left where animals might drink it.

Using the same proportions of the solution smaller amounts may be treated in an ordinary candy bucket or other wooden vessel. Do not use galvanized wash tubs or other metal containers, as the poison corrodes these.

Livestock Paper Lauds Hoosier Ton Litter Idea

The accompanying editorial from The Breeders' Gazette, one of the leading livestock papers in the world pays tribute to the work of the Hoosier Ton Litter Club which is sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University and the Indiana Livestock Breeders Association. The editorial, which is of interest to every farmer follows:

One of the most instructive and promising pieces of co-operative work ever done in connection with hog raising in this country recently was completed in Indiana. Our leader article in this issue summarizes typical methods followed and the results obtained by the Hoosier Ton Litter Club last year. Brilliant in conception, remarkably successful in execution, and, in concrete, finished form worthy of careful study by every farmer interested in efficient hog production, this Indiana idea is "something new under the sun."

The work done by members of the club not only emphasized the value of good breeding, modern methods of feeding, and protective measures embodying the principles of sanitation, but as luck or merit would have it, conferred particularly high distinction upon Poland Chinas; for a number of the leading litters belonged to this great American-made breed. The alert and enterprising Poland-China Breed Promotion Committee of the three leading associations which record Poland-China pedigrees is quite properly exploiting the ton litter club's work.

To their credit it should be said that all the best litters of other breeds finished well. It is noteworthy that one of the best litters was out of a sow and by a boar of medium large type, and that the dams and sires of all the ton litters were remarkably similar in type and size.

We regard the ton litter movement, now auspiciously launched, as presaging developments of the first importance in raising the standard and increasing the efficiency of breeding herds, and thereby greatly strengthening the foundations of the porkmaking industry.

FORDSON

You Will Want Your Fordson Tractor Early

Everything points to the greatest shortage of Ford products this year that has ever existed.

Never before has the demand been so great.

You will want a Fordson Tractor early—here is one product you cannot wait for—when the weather opens up you will need it.

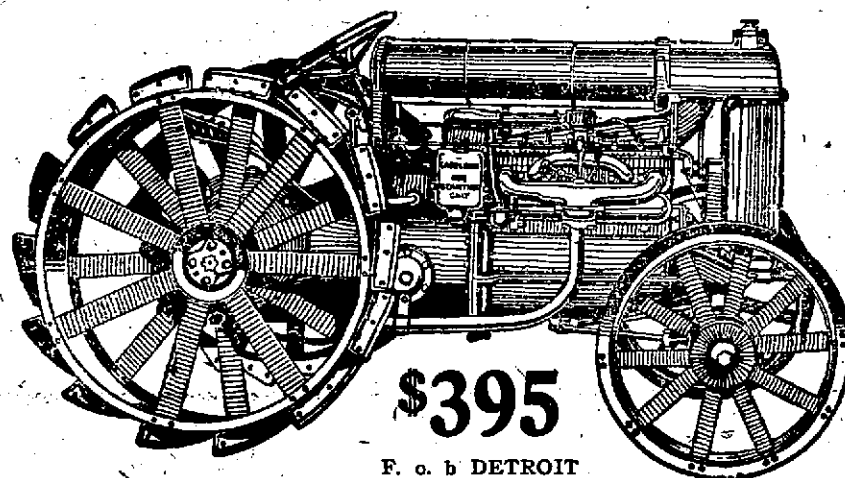

You will want it for plowing, seeding, cultivating—and all your other work. Already it has proved the greatest help to profitable farming that has ever been offered to you. And at $395 f. o. b. Detroit, the price is so low that you lose money every day you are without a Fordson. To get delivery you must order early.

There are no reserve stocks among our dealers — our production capacity, great as it is, will not enable us to build up a reserve.

It must be a case of "first come, first served" and the only way in which you can protect yourself is to list your order with a Ford Dealer immediately.

By taking advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery, you will be assured of having your Fordson when you need it.

What Rush County Farmers Think of the Soy Bean

may sow for green manure; if so, will sow a different kind, with wheat drill all holes running. I threshed 200 bushels last season and were a splendid substitute for sausage. Beans fed with oats to cows makes the best milk producer I have ever fed."—J. W. Henley.

"They are a crop that most every farmer could use to advantage. We intend changing from Mid West to Ito San, for one reason only, being an earlier bean they can be harvested and out of the way for sowing wheat in good time."—W. C. Austen.

"I think they are a very profitable crop. I haveno change in view except harvesting."—John W. Gahimer

"I think they are alright as a hog feed when fed a la Purdue. They surely are a cheap source of nitrogen when properly inoculated. I believe they are a coming crop. I am planning to drill in rows and cultivate for grain. Investigating the row picking machine for harvesting instead of threshing with wheat separator, think it will be less expense."—C. A. Bowen.

"Expect to drill in rows and cultivate for seed. Will drill some for hay. Would like to use beans to take the place of wheat if a satisfactory market for same is established."—H. C. Archey.

"I believe beans are fine feed; they even make the hens lay. I use 1 part ground soy beans, 2 corn and 2 oats and 5 parts regular poultry mash mixed. I threshed about 500 bu. of beans. They should be threshed in about 24 hours after they are cut, not later, if cut at the right time."—Edw. Gahimer.

"Due to the fact that we haven't any clover we will need our beans to feed next summer. We may sell a very few, but only to our neighbors. What do we think of beans? Well they are some feed. I am sorry that we did find it out before we did."—Orla Tremain.

Sir George Paish says America always will have prohibition. He means when it gets it.

JASPER FARMERS STRONG FOR SOYS

A soybean acreage four times as large as that of last year is indicated for Jasper County, according to County Agent, H. S. Agster. The county farm bureau has purchased 300 bushels of seed through a local dealer, to sell to its members, this assuring several hundred more acres, either with corn or for seed.

BROILER PRICES HIGHEST IN SPRING

Season of Year is Most Important Factor, Due Chiefly to the Supply and Demand

PURDUE POULTRY SURVEY

About Middle of May, Receipts are Small Enough to Keep Prices From Fluctuating

The demand for broilers on the Indiana markets does not open until April, when the prices are highest. The prices vary considerably with the season of the year, the different markets, and the size of the birds. The season of the year is the most important factor, due chiefly to the supply and demand. The early broilers first come on market during April, and the receipts increase steadily until about July.

The prices usually decrease as the supply increases, a survey recently made by H. H. Kaufman of the Purdue University Poultry department shows. Until about the middle of May the market receipts are small enough to keep the prices from fluctuating. After the break in price in May, the prices decrease steadily until about the middle or latter part of July. After July there is little variation until the next season's supply comes on the market. Broilers offered for sale during the fall and winter are usually cold storage birds.

The Purdue Poultry Department has found the average monthly Indianapolis market prices from 1915 to 1922 inclusive to be as follows: April-41c, May-38c, June-32c, July-27c, and August-24c. This variation of prices is similar to the fluctuations on the New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago or other large markets. The eastern markets are about 15 percent higher than the Indianapolis quotations.

Early in the season the demand is for the smaller broilers, weighing about a pound and a quarter. As the season advances, there is a demand for birds weighing up to two pounds. Leghorns and other small sized birds should not be allowed to weigh over one and three fourths pounds for

Action of Luce Township, Warlick County, Farmers Encouraging Sign in Agricultural Situation

NO ANIMALS ARE EXCLUDED

Rockport, Ind., Feb. 27—Real co-operation by farmers of Luce township in the testing of cattle for tuberculosis is one of the most encouraging signs in the agricultural situation, according to County Agent H. D. Jackson.

Preliminary testing was done in this township last spring and when the county agent with the inspector arrived at Richland, 35 farmers had assembled for a short meeting to plan the campaign.

"The testing has been concluded over about three-fourths of the township and so far not a single cow has been excluded," Jackson said. "Only a small number of reactors were found but over the area there rests the certainty of disease free cattle that makes it well worth the effort."

best quality broilers. After they become heavier, they develop large combs and wattles, and become staggish.

To obtain the highest price for broilers, it is necessary to get them on the early market to avoid the overstocked conditions. Thus, early hatching is necessary, since it takes from ten to fourteen weeks to grow a broiler. Usually the eastern markets pay the higher price but the local Indiana markets can give better service. By selling locally or within short shipping distances the transportation losses due to express charges, shrinkage, dead birds and other shipping difficulties are greatly reduced.

In choosing a tractor, the principal points to consider are size, type, reliability, comfort and safety of operator, and first cost, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1300, "Choosing a Tractor for a Corn-Belt Farm," just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The authors, L. A. Reynoldson and H. R. Tolley, have prepared this bulletin with the idea of aiding farmers in the proper choice of a machine that will be suitable to their particular conditions and needs.

Four principal factors should be given consideration in deciding on the size or horsepower of a tractor, says the bulletin: kind of soil, topography, surface conditions, and the use to be made of the machine. The three principal types of tractors are the ordinary wheeled type, the crawler, and the general purpose tractor. The ordinary wheeled tractor is found on more farms than any other type. The crawler tractor is particularly adapted to use on sandy soils or soils which tend to pack easily. The general purpose tractor has been found satisfactory for use in all the ordinary operations for which the other types are used, as well as for plowing corn. Owing to the high cost of gasoline, many machines are now equipped with carburetors that will burn kerosene, thus reducing fuel costs about one-half.

In choosing a tractor, the bulletin advises, the farmer can hardly go wrong if he selects one of the standard makes upon which he can obtain prompt service, and for which the parts that require the most attention and care and frequently need to be replaced are easily accessible. Difference in prices of tractors are frequently found to be due to accessories and extra equipment on some machines. As daily operation of a tractor is tiring, prospective purchasers are urged not to overlook features of construction that add to the comfort of the operator and contribute to safety. First cost of a machine should not be the only consideration, says the bulletin, as other important features may be overlooked and a poor choice result. The bulletin gives a formula for estimating the proper size of pulley to use

In Jefferson County, at the conclusion of the year's work in the Cow Testing Association, Joseph Harrell's pure bred Jersey led all other cows in the Association. She produced 9,024 lbs. of milk, 502.7 pounds of butter fat, which was worth, $187.27. The feed she consumed cost $77.18, making a profit of $110.09, according to a report from County Agent B. H. Doddridge. While Mr. Harrell knew this cow was profitable from her splendid production, he would not have known how much she was worth to him had he not been in the cow testing association to thus keep accurate records on all his cows. The cow testing work reveals the hoarder cows in the herd and also just how good the good ones are.

CLUB GIRLS ACTIVE IN VANDERBURG CO.

At the Community House in Scott Township of Vanderburg County the club girls, of that county recently put on five very good demonstrations on sewing, canning, Xmas gifts, removing spots and stains, and making a ribbon hat. This was a contest held during their county fair. The winning team is to be sent to the Club Round-Up at Purdue University next spring by four banks of Evansville. They gave their demonstration to a large number of people who were attending the fair.

These demonstrations were the first ones ever put on by club girls in that county. The girls, even though they were beginners, were composed and entirely unimpaired of the crowd before them.

This work is an outgrowth of their club work which has been carried on under the supervision of Bernadette Keller, Home Demonstration Agent of that county. This is one of the two counties of the state which has a Home Demonstration Agent. She has been able to put on a good club program with the girls of 10 to 18 years of age along with their other work.

The club winners who get the trip to Purdue are: Bertha Engle, Mae Peter, Violet Angel, and Harold Peter, near Evansville; Mary Aliea Riggs, Harriet McCutchan, and Clarence Riggs, Inglesfield; canning demonstration team; Lula Burgdorf, Evelyn Lundenburg, Florence Kares, and Margaret Kolb, all of Cypress.

EXTENDS TO AUSTRALIA PURDUE'S REPUTATION

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 20—The work being done by the Agricultural experiment station at Purdue University reaches round the world, according to the number of letters received during the last few months. One came in today to Professor Conner, soils chemist, from George L. Sutton, director of agriculture for the government of Western Australia at Perth asking for information about some work which has been done at Purdue in connection with soil.

"I saw the statement about your work in a New Zealand newspaper and want some more information," Sutton said. The letter was mailed October 31, 1922.

Similar letters have been received the last few weeks from several European countries and a number from South America on all phases of agriculture and engineering.

POULTRY BUSINESS IMPROVES

Franklin, Ind., Feb. 27—Three tons of poultry are shipped from Johnson county every week, it was learned here today. The value of one week's shipment is $1,400, according to the branch station of an Indianapolis poultry firm. The figures revealed by the poultry company indicate the chicken business is growing by great strides in Johnson county. The percent of increase each year amounts to thirty percent.

The Store That Does Things

TO ILLUSTRATE HOW THE PRESS HELPED

Item From Daily Republican Quoted In Report Of Leader Of Barberrry Eradication Forces

CITES A. B. NORRIS EXAMPLE

Movement To Reduce Black Stem Losses Of Hoosier Farmers Is Given Support By Newspapers

A news item from the Rushville Daily Republican of Nov. 8, 1922, is quoted in the annual report of K. E. Beeson, state leader of the federal barberry eradication forces, as an illustration of the manner in which the press of Indiana has assisted in the movement to reduce the black stem rust losses of Hoosier farmers. Mr. Beeson's report has been filed with the United States department of agriculture and copies have been sent to the leaders in twelve other states where barberry eradication is now in progress.

The story in the Republican was headed "Barberry Bushes Cause Low Yield at Carthage." It called attention to the connection between the common barberry and black stem rust by describing the manner in which rust on a field of grain owned by A. B. Norris was traced directly to a barberry bush. The article proved a powerful circumstantial case against the common barberry and the facts related will be used by government agents to convince doubting farmers all over the spring wheat area that the barberries really are a source of rust infection.

The Conference for the Prevention of Grain Rust, a national organization of agricultural interests with headquarters at Minneapolis, is listing a number of actual cases of the spread of rust from barberries. These will be broadcasted through the Farm Bureau publications and farm journals this spring in an effort to encourage greater activity on the part of grain growers who suffer an average annual loss of some $50,000,000 as a result of stem rust epidemics in the cereal production region between the Ohio Valley and the Rocky Mountains.

has already been done. To prevent worms, the quarters where the pigs are to be farrowed should be cleaned and disinfected. The floor should be scraped, and then scrubbed with a hot solution of lye to destroy the eggs of worms that might be present and infest the young pigs as soon as they begin to eat. Cleaning and disinfecting will control the infestation of other internal parasites. Lung worms, whip worms and pin worms are frequently found in Indiana herds.

Before the sow is put into shed or stall to farrow she should be given a hand bath. A brush and warm soapy water used freely over her body will eliminate the worm eggs that she may be carrying mixed with the dirt on her body. The sow and pigs should be kept in the stall until the pigs are about a week or ten days old, and then removed by hauling to a place that was not used by hogs the previous year. The pigs should not be allowed to come in contact with lots or fields that were used by hogs last year until the pigs are at least four months old. It is well to remember that after hogs reach 90 to 100 pounds in weight there is little danger of the worms causing much trouble.

The pigs that are allowed full range of old hog lots and pens are almost certain to become infested with internal parasites. The sooner they are treated after it is known they are infested the better will be the results. However badly infested pigs seldom grow or fatten even though they have been treated. More attention should be given to sanitation and proper care and feeding of pigs, and there will not be any need of worm powders and tonics. A well cared for, thrifty bunch of pigs seldom shows any sign of worm infestation, but it is an exception to find an unthrifty bunch of pigs that are not badly infested with worms.

Mr. Coulter is not the only Rush County farmer who has found beans

a paying crop, as a number who grew a few acres for the first time last year are increasing their acreage this year. One man is planning to overcome the threshing difficulty by means of a picking machine that threshes the beans from the standing stock.

Most of those who will grow beans for grain this year are sowing them solid with a big drill and will harvest with a binder or self-rake reaper. Most of the beans will cut a week or ten days earlier than last year as it was learned from experience of last year that the time of harvest must be watched closely and not be allowed to be delayed too long on account of the shattering that will result from allowing them to stand too long.

Every farmer in Indiana who purchases seed this spring should appoint himself a deputy seed commissioner to see that the seeds he buys is labeled and that the data required on both sides of the label is properly given.
